DAILY GAZETTE.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—E. G. Meller, jeweler of Montreal, yesterday absconded with $50,000 worth of jewelry.

—The mortality record thus far in the heated term has been fearful in New York. A few facts are given elsewhere.

—Governor Tilden has recently brought a pair of blooded coach-horses in Cincinnati for $10,500. There is nothing like getting ready in time.

—The St. Louis Times says: "One change in our Indian policy would settle the question. Feed the savages with green apples, cucumbers and watermelons."

—Prince Bismarck has suggested to Prince Charles that children should be seen but not heard; so the Roumanian reserves will not be mobilized at present.

—The family of the late William C. Ralston are settled in a comfortable country home in Belmont Valley, California, near the villa which was Ralston's former home.

—There is a lady, the widow of a Pacific coast millionaire, residing at one of the leading Chicago hotels, whose "extras" each week amount to over $100. And yet people think the times hard.

—Wisner Murray, shot at Goshen July 13th by Robert H. Berdell, whom he had horsewhipped for an alleged insult to his mother, died at Middletown, N. Y., yesterday morning. Murray was married to a sister of the divorced wife of Berdell.

—Mr. Vanderbilt appears to be slowly gaining in strength. He rose early yesterday morning and called for beefsteak, which he ate heartily. Dr. Linsley pronounced the Commodore entirely out of immediate danger, and anticipates a speedy recovery.

—Commodore Garnett, who was drowned by the capsizing of his yact Mohawk, near New York, on Thursday was worth twenty millions of dollars, and had an income of two millions a year. He was only thirty-three years of age, and had inherited most of his wealth.

—There is one disadvantage in the daily weather bulletins from "Old Prob." Hope is the anchor of the soul, and formerly, in the hottest weather, we could always hope that the little cloud in the horizon might bring rain. But now, that the whole day is described to us in the morning, there is no room for hope, and the weary soul is left without its anchor.

—Mrs. Fanny Kemble's old-age verdict upon the life of the stage: "It is a business which is incessant excitement and factitious emotion, unworthy of man; a business which is public exhibition, unworthy of woman. Never have I presented myself before an audience without a shrinking feeling of reluctance, or withdrawn from their presence without thinking the excitement I had undergone unhealthy, and the personal exhibition odious."

—The estate of Elwin Booth, the actor, which has been in bankruptcy for two years and a half, has just been settled, the assignee, Mr. John H. Platt, having presented his final report. All the claims were bought by a friend of Mr. Booth, which gives him a virtual discharge, though he has not formally applied for one. A dividend of 5½ per cent. has been paid. His stage property was sold for $3,000, library and private theatrical wardrobe for $1,500 and paintings for $1,350. The unsecured claims filed amount to $250,000.

—The American Philological Association has adopted a report of a committee of its leading members, in favor of an altered spelling of the English language. This report announces that the present method of spelling, or "historical orthography," is only a concession to the weakness of prejudice. This prejudice is to be broken down "by the combined influence of enlightened scholars and of practical educators." But the report does not say what is to be done in case the scholars and educators should prefer not to combine in favor of the proposed change.

—The Texas cattle trade has reached great fproportions, the number of cattle driven from the southwestern portion of that State during the spring and summer of the present year, up to July 9, being 311,390, according to statistics given in the Kansas City Price Current. Of this number 52,338 have been held in northern Texas, while the remainder had been driven north. Besides those included in the above estimates, several thousand head of cattle that were wintered in northern Texas have joined the others on their way to markets in the North and East.

—Mr. Jewell does not care to run for Congress, if he is correctly reported. Mr. Byington of the Norwalk Gazette vouches for this interview between the ex-Postmaster General and Congressman Landers of the Hartford district, just before the former's departure from Washington: "How is this, Jewell? They tell me you are going home to run for my place. If that's so, all I've got to say is, you're the only fellow I don't think I can beat." Jewell loq.: "George, I can think of but one other place I wouldn't rather go to than that House—and that place isn't on this earth."

—A correspondent sends us a timely hint, in the interest of out-door laborers employed by public contractors. It is to the effect that the men might be saved from much suffering, and possibly from attacks of sunstroke, by commencing work an hour earlier in the morning, and taking two hours instead of one in the middle of the day, for rest and refreshment. The suggestion is a humane one. The long continuance of the fearful heat enervates the strongest, and it is but common humanity for contractors to shield their men from the direct rays of the sun in the hottest part of the day. If one would set the example, others would probably follow.

—James Russell Lowell said in his speech at the Harvard Alumni dinner: "I think that, after all, when we look back upon a hundred years through which the country has passed, the vista is not so disheartening as to the indigestive fancy it might at first appear. If we have lost something of that Arcadian simplicity which the French travelers of a hundred years ago found here, perhaps because they looked for it, perhaps because of their impenetrability by the English tongue, we have lost something also of that self-sufficiency which is the mark as well of provincials as of barbarians, and which is the great hinderance to all true advancement. It is a wholesome symptom, I think, if we are beginning to show some of that talent for grumbling which is the undoubted heirloom of the race to which most of us belong."

—This is the other side of the story: At the time of General Belknap's resignation in March statements were published charging that the expenses of his household were so great that he was obliged to resort to improper means to obtain the funds necessary to meet them. This story, repeated and reiterated by the American and foreign press, is utterly without foundation. General Belknap has bills and vouchers for all the expenditures of every character, and these show that they have never in any year exceeded his salary as Secretary of War, and that the amount received by him as salary during his six years' occupancy of the War Department is greatly in excess of his expenses. While his hospitality has been liberal, it has been kept within his means. Although this is his business alone, yet the press has made it the public's business, and the facts are as here stated.

—The fast mail service seems to be doomed There is no likelihood that the railroads will consent to the extra work required at reduced rates, as there is certainly no good reason why they should. The new postal bill takes ten per cent from the compensation fixed in 1873, instead of increasing it, as it should have done. It is impossible to estimate the detriment to business which will result from this stroke of Congressional economy. And the worst of it for Congress is that the return to old-time slow mails will affect the class of citizens whose good opinion is worthy of cultivation. An experience of nine months has convinced the business portion of the country of the absolute necessity for the improved mail facilities, and if the servants of the people will not do their bidding, the proper remedy will be applied at the proper time.—Philadelphia Times.

—We fear that the spirit of enterprise which has done so much to distinguish Mr. James Gordon Bennett is growing feeble. For some time past the Herald has been engaged in an unsuccessful endeavor to raise money by public subscription to build a monument to Gen. Custer. This is not the kind of a thing for a millionaire like Mr. Bennett. Let him build the monument and pay for it himself, without trying to get a lot of poorer people to go into partnership in the undertaking. When he sent Stanley after Livingston, when he ran his lightning train to San Francisco, and when he furnished the mustangs for the Polo Club, he did not call on the public to help pay the expenses. If Mr. Bennett wants to build a monument to the gallant Custer costing $50,000 or so, he should foot the bills from his own pocket.—New York Sun.

—A Herald correspondent gives this incident in connection with the college regatta, and people generally will endorse the Englishman's views: "An Englishman's modesty was terribly shocked yesterday when he saw the crew of Union College come on the grand stand naked down within nine inches of their lions, and chat and mingle with the ladies. 'Hanything,' said he, 'so blarsted hindecent I never saw in the 'ole course of my life. Why, if a man, you know, did that in Hingland he would be transported to Botany Bay.' It certainly was rather a bewildering spectacle to see four men so perilously near to utter nudity, talking with an entire unconcern to their appearance before the many delicate and blushing sylphs on the grand stand. It wouldn't hurt these valiant carsmen little if they contrived to don a light gauze shirt and save their skin from wearing the complexion of a red Indian."

FIRST EDITION.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Reported Death of Sitting Bull.

All the Fighting Men Away from the Agency.

TROOPS BEING HURRIED TO THE FRONT.

Reported Death of Sitting Bull.

BISMARCK, D. T., July 20.—Sitting Bull was undoubtedly killed in the Little Horn battle. His body was recognized by Fred Girard, an interpreter at General Terry's headquarters, who has been among the Indians for the last twenty-six years, and the description of Sitting Bull given by William Courtalley, of the Berthold Agency who knew him well, is a perfect description of the body found which was at first supposed to be that of Sitting Bull.

Goodnow, a Sioux at Fort Rice, who, two days before the battle, gave a detailed plan of Sitting Bull's campaign, including the abandoned village and the larger village into which it was intended to decoy the troops, together with the description of the ground, gives a similar description Mr. S. Bull. In further confirmation of the theory that he was killed we have a statement which comes through an Indian chief (Grass) at Standing Rock that he was killed, together with Black Moon, Crazy Horse and six other chiefs.

Strength of the Indian Army.

The statement that Sitting Bull's band of Uncapapas lost 160, and that the entire Indian loss was between 300 and 400 is renewed. To show that Sheridan still underestimates the strength of the hostiles, I give you the following facts: Last week a count of all the Indian lodges in and about Standing Rock, including the scattered lodges for twenty miles up and down the river, was made, and the number proves to be 297, or about 1,500 Indians, when there should be 7,000.

Agent Leman, who was present when the beef rations were issued last week to the Indians, says tat the rations were drawn as usual by the chiefs of the respective bands, and there was so great a surplus that lodges of four to seven Indians drew from three to five head of beef cattle each. Another gentleman says that there are less than twenty young warriors at this agency, and another that where the plains were swarming with well armed Indians, when rations were drawn last fall and winter, at the last drawing there were but four guns in sight.

Mrs. Gallopin, well known to officials as a reliable Indian woman, says there are not to exceed 200 men at the agency where there should not be less than 2,000 warriors.

From which it would seem that the Indians have been reinforced with nearly 2,000 warriors from this agency alone, and those well armed.

Your correspondent has known the men who bring this information three years, and knows them to be reliable and accepts fully their statements. All but fifty lodges out of the camp of more than one thousand have either joined the hostiles or moved to the east side of the river. They pretend they fear an attack from the hostiles, and for that reason have moved their women and children to the east side.

Troops to the Front.

The steamer Carroll left for the Yellowstone this afternoon with companies of the Twenty-second infantry to reinforce Terry, and one hundred and fifty tons of supplies. The Western will follow to-morrow with horses and recruits for the Seventh cavalry.

Indians have come into the outer camps, at Standing Rock, wearing officers clothing and arms, and also wearing the sashes and carrying the arms of the Seventh cavalry officers or men. Five wounded have been reported to the commandant at Standing Rock as having arrived from the hostiles at that agency, but they are kept in by their friends.

Six companies of the Twenty-second regiment of infantry and 175 recruits for the Seventh Cavalry have left Fort Lincoln to join General Terry at the mouth of the Big Horn River. These troops are under the command of Colonel Otis, of the Twenty-second, and are largely made up of old soldiers used to frontier warfare. They were inspected last evening in their camp by Inspector General Baird, and presented a fine appearance. The command is in excellent spirit, and will, no doubt, give a good account of the Sioux. Great energy has been showed by Capt. Burns, the Quartermaster at Ft. Lincoln, in furnishing the troops with the necessary supplies for taking the field, and they would have been on their way some days ago had the steamer Carroll arrived from Powder river as soon as was expected. Since Colonel Otis arrived he has displayed unceasing energy, and there is no doubt but that the reinforcements under his command will be hurried forward with the greatest possible speed.

It is calculated that Colonel Otis will not reach General Terry's headquarters much before twelve or fifteen days. General Forsyth, of Sheridan's staff, accompanies the troops. He goes to consult with General Terry respecting the location of the forts which it is proposed to erect on the Yellowstone.

Another Account of Sitting Bull's Strength.

CAMP OF THE FIFTH CAVALRY, SAGE CREEK, July 19, via Cheyenne, Wy. T., July 20.—When Gen. Merritt's command had reached Rawhide last week, on its way to join Gen. Crook, word was received that affairs at the Agency were rather threatening. Major Stanton with four scouts was dispatched at once to that point to ascertain what was the condition of affairs. He reached there at midnight of the 14th, and found that 800 Cheyennes were leaving for the north, comprising men, women and children. A courier was immediately sent to Gen. Merritt with the information, and he started northward with his whole command to intercept them. He also took Company F of the 9th Infantry, Lieut. Rogers, and Company H, 23d Infantry, Lieuts. Taylor and Pardee, ten companies in all. Out of twenty-three hundred Cheyennes belonging to Red Cloud Agency all have gone north except about three hundred men and children. There has been great demand for ammunition. The Indians have even offered a pony for thirty rounds of cartridges. About 100 Indians were wounded in Gen. Crook's fight on the Rosebud in June, and they are now distributed among friends at the agency. There is much mourning for Indians from that agency who were killed in that engagement. The Indians acknowledge a loss of 86 killed in Gen. Crook's fight and of about 280 in Gen Custer's fight.

Red Cloud has armed and sent out a great many warriors to Sitting Bull, even taking the rations of beef issued on the 10th from the women and children to supply these warriors with something to eat on the way north. Out of thirteen thousand Indians belonging to the agency, there are four thousand not present now, and the agent is no longer able to deny that his Indians have mostly gone north to join Sitting Bull. Many mounted to go immediately after the sun dance of last June, but were restrained. When the news of General Custer's defeat came to them they began leaving at once in large and small parties, until now the Cheyennes are nearly all gone, and almost the entire fighting strength of the Sioux.

The post in White River Canon has been withdrawn, as the mail contractors are unable to get the mail carried from Fort Laramie to Red Cloud, and all mail for the troops there is sent in and out with military escorts. When Gen. Merritt's command returns from its present move it will proceed at once to join Gen. Crook. It will consist of the entire 5th Cavalry, twelve companies, recruited to a good standard.

A Missing Courier.

CHEYENNE, July 21.—The courier who left Gen. Crook's camp on the evening of the 16th has not reached Fetterman. As in a former instance, his horse may have given out.

Cavalry for the Front.

Seven companies of Gen. Merritt's Fifth Cavalry arrived at Ft. Laramie to-day, and will leave Fetterman to-morrow or the day following, together with three additional companies of the same regiment—ten in all.

Fire at St. Petersburg, Pa.

ST. PETERSBURG, CLARION COUNTY, July 21.—The residence of D. E. Brenneman, principal of the public school here, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The building was owned by the borough. The total loss is probably $2,000. The family are absent from home, and the fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A Woman Butchered.

DETROIT, July 21.—A woman named Mary Evault, living in East Saginaw, was literally cut to pieces by her husband to-night, her left arm being nearly severed from the body and the back of her neck and side frightfully gashed. Jealousy was the probable cause.

A FEARFUL RECORD.

The Slaughter of the Innocents.

The Frightful Increase in the Mortality Lists in New York—Filth and Death Going Hand in Hand—Children Dying by Hundreds—The Authorities at Last Aroused.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Yesterday a large number of tenements on the East side were visited by the visiting physicians, appointed by the Board of Health, and a great many sick children were found in Willett, Rivington, Division, Jackson, Market and Cannon streets. A reporter, in looking for one of the physicians, came across a funeral in Ludlow street. It was of a little child. "That makes the thirteenth funeral that has taken place from these two blocks during the past ten days," said a police officer with whom the reporter got into conversation; "and I don't wonder there's so many in these tenement districts," he added. "The children get no rest at night, and they pick decayed fruit out of the barrels here and there, and some of them half the time have very little else to eat, God help them. Go into any of the houses along here and you'll be sure to find a sick child on almost every floor." Following out this suggestion and making his search for the Board of Health physicians the pretext of his visit, the reporter entered two or three of the tenements. In one of the houses, which was four stories in height, their were five children who were suffering from diarrhœa, and in the house adjoining the corpse of a babe one year old was laid out in a small front room, and another child of three lay on the floor suffering from prostration and the summer complaint. In Essex street the reporter saw a woman standing in front of a small grocery store crying bitterly, another woman apparently attempting to console her. The reporter learned from the groceryman that the poor woman was a widow who earned her living by washing. She had, before the heated term began, three children, two girls and a boy, aged respectively five, three and two; but they were now dead, the baby having been buried only the day before. Doubtless this was but one of many terrible illustrations of the fearful havoc that the heat has made in the tenement districts.

Uncovering Disease.

Yesterday the deaths of children for the preceding day under five years of age was averaged at ninety-eight, making a total of 2,334 deaths in twenty five days. The work of the new medical staff of the Board of Health began in earnest yesterday. Before setting forth on the visits Dr. Day summoned the members of the corps to his office and gave them practical instructions how to proceed. The doctors are required to note every visit paid, the number of children in each house, well or sick, to be used in future as a reference. At ten o'clock, under a fierce and glaring sun, the doctors started forth on what is, perhaps, the most offensive and the hardest work possible to conceive. A reporter accompanied Dr. Early, whose district embraces Mulberry, Mott and Elizabeth streets, where tenement houses are thick and children swarm like bees.

The first house entered was No. 273 Mott street, and the first man encountered was the janitor. "Any sick children in this house?" said the Doctor. "Oh, Lord, no, sir! This is the healthiest house in the neighborhood. The highest ground in the city, sir. All fat and rosy, sir. Look at that one (pointing to a dirty little girl with but one garment on); see the likes o' that!"

All the janitors talked this way, never acknowledging a dirty home or a sick child in it. The Doctor, however, paid little attention to the janitors, but proceeded up stairs. The smell was abominable and stifling, but the children played around as happily as though they were in the surf at Rockaway. "No sickness here," said a woman on the top floor, and the Doctor left for Elizabeth street.

Ninety Children in One House.

Here, beginning with No. 249, are a perfect honeycomb of tenement houses, connecting back and rear; black and white mixed up together.

When the doctor entered all heads were out of the windows and the women left washing and ironing, and the big darky blowing peas through a pipe dropped the shooter and came to see what was the matter. "How many families are there in these houses?" said the Doctor. "Thirty families, sir," was the reply. "About how many children are there?" "Three to every family." "Ninety children?"

The Doctor went up the narrow stairs. Colored people lived in the house, and it was much cleaner and sweeter than any of the tenements occupied by white people. Several little babies were found suffering from summer complaint, but they had doctors.

In the white section of the building a foundling was discovered sick. "Is this your child, madam?" said the Doctor. "No; he come from ze Foundling." "Is he sick?" "Yes; a little. How old you dinks?" "About two months. What is his name?" "Charley; that's all he has," and the woman laughed, and the baby cried and kicked up his heels. Medicine and tickets for St. John's Guild were left for him.

Tobacco and Disease.

The next place visited was the Bohemian quarters, No. 240 Elizabeth street. A nice looking Bohemian woman stood at the door. Nobody spoke English, the Doctor did not speak German, so a little girl spoke broken English and interpreted. There were sixteen families in each house, or eighty families in all. Thirty babies in the first house. The Doctor proceeded through the tenement. Everybody was making cigars—men, women and children spreading out wet leaves, rolling, packing and moulding cigars. The babies were playing on the floor, well and happy, nobody sick in the entire block, and the doctor speculated upon the wonderful disinfecting powers of tobacco. The next house was an Irish tenement. There were thirty-eight children playing in the passage; not one with shoes or stockings on. Pails of garbage stood in the hall, the sink was full of dirty water, and the smell was intolerable.

"How many children are there in this house?" said the Doctor, approaching a lady whose only garment was a calico dress.

"The house is full of them," she replied. "Mrs. Reilly, on the first, has seven, and Smith five; Tim Finn, on the fourth, has eight and O'Mahony four."

The Doctor entered Mrs. Reilly's apartment, followed by four women and fourteen children of different ages.

Mrs. O'Reilly arose in wrath and drove the children out and then took a child of about two years of age off the floor saying: "This one's sick. What do you think of that head? There's nuthin' in it. That head ain't any good." The child's head was large and ill-formed, but the Doctor explained that he had nothing to do with heads. The mother intimated that she didn't believe it would live long and that "she had six anyhow." This district, while representing a variety of "life," did not reveal so many sick children as was anticipated.

"Charnel Houses"

are located in Franklin, Baxter and the surrounding thorou hfares down town on the low ground. Here the houses were found to be much dirtier, more crowded, hot and disease breeding. In one small house between Centre street and the Bowery were found twenty-two families, or one in each room. Some of them take boarders. This house alone holds a sufficient number to stock a small village. "How many children in this house?" asked the Doctor of Mrs. Magee, on the first floor.

"Oh, there must be a hundred or more. Lots of them. There's a funeral up this street nearly every day, and they are all the children."

The stench on the stairs and in the rooms was terrible. Tin cans and wooden boxes with garbage in them on every floor. Children sick and crying on every floor, without medical or any other attendance. The doctor prescribed and gave out excursion tickets, but one woman refused to accept, saying, "Poor people couldn't walk so far to the boat through the sun."

The corpse yesterday made over 1,300 visits, gave advice in 350 cases and gave away over 200 excursion tickets. The Board expect these visits will effect a change in the mortality next week.

An Appeal to Druggists.

At a special meeting of the Board of Health yesterday the following circular was ordered forwarded to the various druggists of the city:

To the Druggists of the City of New York:

The unusual mortality among young children of the poorer classes during the present heated term has compelled the Health Department to appoint a corps of special inspectors to visit tenement houses and to care for sick children whose parents are unable to employ physicians. The prescriptions in these cases will be very simple, but the dispensaries are already overworked and cannot honor them. We appeal, therefore, to you, in the interest of humanity, begging that in filling the prescriptions signed by Assistant Sanitary Inspectors you will make your charges as near cost as possible.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 21, 1876.

SENATE.

The bill removing the political disabilities of Geo. W. Jackson, of West Virginia, was passed.

Consideration was resumed of the bill providing for the sale of Osage ceded lands in Kansas to actual settlers, the pending question being on the motion of Mr. Edmunds to strike out the eighth section. Pending the discussion the morning hour expired.

The impeachment trial was resumed, but on a statement that Mr. Carpenter and Manager Lapham were sick, the Senate as a court adjourned till Monday, and continued the discussion on

The River and Harbor Bill.

Mr. EATON, who was entitled to the floor, said he was glad the Senate adjourned just after he took the floor on Tuesday last, because after reflection he was satisfied that this floor was not the place for a political speech on the River and Harbor appropriation bill, but he had a word to say to the Senator from Ohio (Sherman). That Senator said there was no act of the Democratic party within the last forty years which could be defended before the country. All this was said in the face of the fact that for sixty years the history of the United States was the history of the Democratic party. Under Democratic rule the country had increased from 4,000,000 to 40,000,000 people. Old England had been humbled on land and sea by Democratic men, and the Democratic party was worthy of the country. He (Eaton) would say out upon all such trash. It was childish and absurd, and ought not to be heard on the floor of the Senate. He promised hereafter in more than one part of this broad land to discuss this question, but not here in the Senate. Again, the Honorable Senator (Sherman) ventured to couple the honored name of Samuel J. Tilden with that of Wm. M. Tweed. There was no defence for that here, or anywhere else. Benedict Arnold was once a trusted officer and associate of George Washington, the father of all this country. One Judas Iscariot was called an apostle at one time. It would not do for any man on this floor, or anywhere else, to couple the name of Samuel J. Tilden with that of Wm. M. Tweed, or any other malefactor, except as his prosecutor. He (Eaton) made no charge against any Republican, neither did he wish to defend the Democratic party. He would do that hereafter and elsewhere.

Mr. SHERMAN said the Senator from Connecticut had, by straining the language which he uttered in the heat of debate, made a new issue. He then read from his remarks of Tuesday last, and said what he meant to say was that no position of the Democratic party since 1846 could be defended before the country, and on that question he would be glad to meet his friend from Connecticut on the stump. He next referred to his remarks in regard to Tilden, and said he did not mean to say that he was a man of the same character as Tweed, but it was well known that Tilden was the political, and to some extent the personal, associate of Tweed. He (Sherman) had letters and telegrams furnished him by his friend from Rhode Island (Anthony) to show this fact. He felt bound to say that when Tilden did participate in efforts in New York to put down fraud it was after a long delay; though when he did commence work he did so with vigor. Tilden did decline at first to become a member of the Committee of Seventy. In all the reform for which Tilden was distinguished he was aided throughout by the Republican party in New York and opposed by a strong element of the Democratic party. It was only by the aid of reformers that he got the title of "great reformer."

Mr. EATON said he would not be drawn into a political discussion, but when the Senator from Ohio said Tilden was the associate of Tweed, he (Eaton) might as well say that the President of the United States was the associate of McDonald. The Senator from Ohio had challenged the Senators on the Democratic side to name one Republican who had been detected in fraud. He (Eaton) did not propose to name one now out of a thousand.

Mr. KERNAN said he did not desire to discuss politics on this bill, but as Tilden lived in the State of New York, he desired to say that when the frauds in that State were first discovered, Tilden then consulted with Governor Seymour and other prominent gentlemen of the State, and they took the stand that people committing these frauds must be turned out of the Democratic party. Tilden openly denounced Tweed and all his associates, and he (Kernan) thought he could appeal to the New York Times and other papers in New York to show that Tilden, Seymour and other men of character in the Democratic party came to the front to put down frauds.

Mr. HOWE said there might be several arguments as to when the Democratic party ceased to do good, but there was one point upon which all Senators could agree, and that was this River and Harbor bill should not be recommitted to the committee. [Laughter.]

The Senate returned to the question properly before it—the recommitment of the River and Harbor bill. Pending the discussion the Senate went into executive session, and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

A number of private bills were reported and acted upon. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the private calendar, the first bill being one confirming certain land claims in the State of Missouri. After discussion the enacting clause was struck out and the bill was so reported to the House, which confirmed the action of the committee, and so the bill was defeated.

The House then adjourned until Monday.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

College Athletic Sports.

SARATOGA, July 21.—The athletic sports closed this morning. The three mile race was contested by E. C. Stimson and Hays, both of Dartmouth. Stimson won. Time 16:21½. In the one mile walk Watson, of the College of the City of New York, won. Time 8:02, T. A. Noble, of Princeton, second. Three others started, but did not finish. The graduates' mile run was won by Downs, of the Wesleyan. Time 5:38½. The high jump was sharply contested by J. W. Prior, of Columbia, and J M. Mann, of Princeton. Prior made five feet four inches, and Mann five feet one inch. The mile run was contested by E. C. Stimson, of Dartmouth, and T. R. Green, of Princeton. The former won. Time 4:58½. The quarter mile run was contested by Stephen Young, of Dartmouth, H. W. Stephens, of Williams, and D. Roberts, of Wesleyan. Stephens won in 56 seconds. Young, three seconds behind, fell from exhaustion upon crossing the score.

The Races at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, July 21.—In the 2:26 class, for $1,000, with four starters, I. Murphy's Lady H. won the first heat in 2:27. J. Wilson and Louis Elsie's Good won the second, fourth and fifth in 2:27½, 2:28 and 2:29 ¼. Sedon Goldsmith's Bateman won the third heat in 2:27½. In the free for all, six starters, for $1,500, W. H. Harrison's Susie took the first and second heats in 2:27 and 2:27, but was distanced in the fourth. W. R. Hunt's White Cloud took the third in 2:27¾, and D. M. Jenkins' Joe Browne took the fourth, fifth and sixth heats in 2:28, 2:29¼ and 2:29½. Demmick and Durgin's Lady K. won the 2:45 trot in three straight heats. Time, 2:31, 2:32 and 2:31½.

Damage in and Around Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—The storm of thunder, lightning and wind that visited this city and surrounding country last evening was very severe, and the damage done in the aggregate is considerable, although no one item is very great. In the city and in the country districts trees were blown down and houses were partially unroofed by the wind, and in several instances damage was done by the lightning, several barns having been struck in New Jersey, not far from Camden. Damage was done at the Centennial grounds during the storm. The velocity of the wind was over one mile per minute.

Tobacco Warehouses Damaged.

RICHMOND, July 21.—During a severe storm here last night the southern section of Seabrook's tobacco warehouse was demolished and a large quantity of tobacco damaged by rain. Several other tobacco factories were unroofed and the stock damaged seriously. Dickerson & Co.'s saddlery establishment was carried away. A number of persons were injured, but none fatally so far as known.

Death by Lightning.

Five Persons Drowned in the Hudson River.

TROY, N. Y., July 21.—By the swamping of a small steam yacht in the Hudson river, near this city, last evening, Gregson Fox, Thomas Edgely, jr., Geo. Bloomfield, James Faulkner and Henry Maniche were drowned. Four others, who composed the party, were saved by swimming ashore. Edgely was drowned attempting to save Fox, who could not swim.

Burned to Death.

LACHINE, QUEBEC, July 21.—A large building used by Mr. S. Ouge for a boat building was burned last night, with the boats of the Lachine boating club and several steam and sailing yachts. A child of the proprietor perished in the flames, and two workmen, in their endeavor to save their tools, were badly burned. They died this morning.

England and the Eastern Question.

The Indian War Discussed in the British Parliament.

The Indian War.

LONDON, July 21.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir Edward William Watkin asked the Under Secretary for the Colonial Department if he could give any information regarding the conflict between the United States troops and the Sioux Indians, many of which are British subjects, and whether the origin of the conflict was not a breach of the treaty regarding Indian reservations and subsidies, which may provoke widespread antagonism between the Indians and whites on both American and British territory. He asked whether the Government proposed to tender its good offices in the interest of the Indian subjects of Great Britain and of humanity. Mr. Low then replied that so far no information had been received, and he could not express an opinion as to its origin or possible consequences. He had no information tending to show that any British subjects are connected with these events. As at present advised the Government has no intention to interfere.

The Business Depression.

LONDON, July 21.—The imperiled concern in the Cleveland iron trade is Thomas Vaughan & Co., of Middleborough. Two more Glasgow mill owners intimate an intention to reduce wages ten per cent. It is feared the reduction will become general. The employes of one large firm have struck, and those of another have determined to strike.

GLASGOW, July 21.—John Athay & Co., grain merchants, have failed. Their liabilities are considerable, but are not yet computed.

The Roumanian Reserves.

BUCHAREST, July 21.—The Senate today empowered the Minister of War, upon his motion, to call out, if necessary, the reserves of the second territorial division.

Gold Currency.

Montenegrin Victory.

PARIS, July 21.—A telegram to the Russian agency says the Montenegrins have had a real success at Padgoritza. Prince Nicholas took the heights commanding Mostar, and a decisive engagement is imminent.

Roumanian Neutrality.

BUCHAREST, July 21.—The Chamber of Deputies to-day voted an address to the throne, expressing satisfaction with the ministry, and declaring Roumania will observe neutrality, but expects that all claims lately addressed to the Porte will be granted.

Dom Pedro.

QUEENSTOWN, July 21.—The steamship Russia, from New York, has arrived, with the Emperor and Empress of Brazil and suite on board.

Servian Victories.

BELGRADE, July 21.—Turks are everywhere assuming the offensive. It is officially announced that the Turks entrenched at Belgine attacked Gen. Olimpics on Thursday with ten battalions, chiefly irregulars. They attempted to drive the Servians across the Drina. After six hours' fighting they were repulsed and pursued to Belgine with heavy loss. The ground was covered with Turkish dead. A rain storm stopped the pursuit, but the Servian artillery made great havoc in the Turkish ranks.

The Turks attacked Col. Mirkavic on Wednesday at Gramada, east of Alexinatz. There was ten hours' indecisive fighting. The Turks were reinforced and resumed the attack on Thursday, but were repulsed.

LONDON, July 22.—The Standard's Belgrade special says the repulse of the attack on Gramada is the most important strategic advantage the Servians have yet gained. Gramada commands the road from Nisch to Saitschar, and bars access to the heart of Servia.

The Bulgarian Outrage.

The Standard's Constantinople telegram says the American missionaries, at Rumiliussar, who are responsible for a majority of the statements concerning outrages in Bulgaria, have persuaded the American Minister to send the Consul General to Phillippopoli to watch the inquiry which Caring, Secretary of the British Legation, is about to commence.

The Sultan.

Another dispatch to the Standard from Constantinople says: Notwithstanding anything you read to the contrary, the Sultan's condition is very serious, and his abdication is imminent.

The French University Bill.

A Paris dispatch says it is rumored that M. Waddington, Minister of Public Instruction, resigned in consequence of the rejection by the Senate of the University bill.

England and the Eastern Question.

LONDON, July 22.—Eastern correspondence recapitulates England's reasons for refusing to assent to the Berlin memorandum and other matters, the substance of which is already known. On the 20th of May Count Schouvaloff, Russian minister to Great Britain, communicated a letter to Earl Derby, conveying the views of the Russian Foreign Office on the English policy. The letter complains that Elliott, the English ambassador to Turkey seemed to approve of the Softa demonstrations, and hints that England had prematurely communicated the Berlin proposals to Turkey. On the 31st of May Earl Derby warns Minister Elliott to be watchful, lest under a pretext of protecting Christians a proposal is made to summon fleets to Constantinople. He orders him to immediately inform the home Government if such a proposal was mooted, so that they may determine upon their course. Subsequently dispatches show that the Admirals of all powers were instructed to observe the treaty restricting the entry of men-of-war to the Dardanelles. On the 1st of July Count Schouvaloff asked Earl Derby whether England intended to observe strict non-intervention in the war between Turkey and Servia. Earl Derby replied "Undoubtedly yes. But it must be clearly understood that the English Government enter into no engagement to continue to abstain from intervention in the event, which, however, I cannot assume as probable, of a different course being pursued by the other powers."

University Degrees in France.

VERSAILLES, July 21.—The Senate rejected by a vote of 144 against 139 the Government bill restoring to the State the sole right of conferring university degrees. During the debate M. Dufauvre urged the adoption of the bill, which would strengthen the Minister in defending the interests of the church. In the Chamber of Deputies the rejection of the measure would weaken the Government. The rejection was effected by the alliance of the Bonapartists with the Right, and it has produced a sensation.

Destructive Fire.

PARIS, July 21.—A portion of the town of Gavray, near Cherbourg, has been burned. A hundred houses were destroyed, and four hundred families are homeless.

The Extradition Question.

LONDON, July 22.—The Standard says: We are warranted in inferring from Earl Derby's language, when asking Lord Granville to postpone his extradition motion in the House of Lords, that there is a prospect of negotiations for a renewal of the treaty on a more satisfactory basis. Minister Pierrepont must either have made some distinct proposals or stated his belief that he would soon receive instructions to do so. It is probable the turn matters have taken may even prevent discussion during the present session.

The Bulgarian Insurrection Reviving.

The Times' Vienna telegram says the insurrection in Bulgaria is reviving in all directions. All roads are becoming insecure because of insurgent bands.

Cannon Seized.

The Daily News' Rome dispatch says Greece seized six cannon at Corfu, destined for the Montenegrins. Extensive military preparations are progressing in Empirius and Thessaly.

The Policy of Non-intervention.

LONDON, July 22.—The Times, reviewing the differences between England and Russia manifested by the Eastern correspondence, says the policy of non-intervention was adopted by England obviously because of a rooted indisposition to intervene, but it is difficult to believe Russia had any other motive for reserve than an inability to discern how to interfere effectively.

Turkish Preparations.

The Paris Opinione's Janina special says the Turks are importing large supplies of rifles and mountain artillery and enrolling militia to suppress any attempt at insurrection. Seven thousand Asiatics are now stationed at Thessaly.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 21.—A hundred Basha Basouks have been arrested and disarmed near Philippopolis.

KILLED BY A RATTLESNAKE.

The Fate of a Berry Picker—The Fangs of a Rattlesnake Fastened in Her Leg—Dying a Horrible Death in the Woods.

PORTAGE, PA., July 21.—On Monday morning last Miss Sarah Goodloe, daughter of a prominent resident of this place, and two little girls named Jennie Wagner and Laura Webb, went out in the Wyckoff Mountain to pick huckleberries. About ten o'clock the Webb girl returned crying to the village, and said that Miss Goodloe had been bitten by a rattlesnake and was sick in the woods about a mile away. The young lady's father, accompanied by a couple of friends and Dr. Crane, went to the spot, guided by the girl. On reaching it a fearful sight presented itself. Miss Goodloe lay in convulsions on the ground and was swollen to an enormous size. Dr. Crane at once tore her clothing loose and revealed the fact that the flesh had commenced to turn black. She was entirely unconscious and was at once pronounced beyond all human aid. The snake had sunk his fangs deep into the calf of her leg in two places, and one of them was found hanging to her stocking. The doctor administered such remedies as are used in such cases, but the unfortunate young woman died in a few minutes after the arrival of her father and party. Her limbs swelled so that the one bitten by the snake burst the skin. She died in the most intense agony. The circumstances attending the case are related by the little girl as follows: They were picking berries near the top of the ridge and had their pails nearly filled. Suddenly Miss Goodloe gave a loud scream, and, dropping her pail, ran wildly out of the bushes toward a plot of grass near by, shouting, "My God, my God, a rallesnake has bitten me!" She threw herself on the grass and commenced rolling and shrieking. The little Webb girl ran toward her and saw a portion of the snake, which seemed to be still attacking Miss Goodloe. About half of the snake, from the rattles up, was exposed, and it was sounding the latter in a manner denoting the greatest rage. The little girl, with singular bravery, seized the reptile by the tail and jerked it loose from Miss Goodloe and killed it with a club before it got away. She then told the young lady that they had better start for home at once, and they hurried homeward, the two little girls assisting Miss Goodloe, who continued to grow ill from the effects of the bite, and finally dropped in convulsions at the spot where the Webb girl left her and hurried on for aid.

WASHINGTON TOPICS.

The Impeachment Trial

has been postponed until Monday on account of the illness of Counsel Carpenter and Manager Lapham.

Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation.

The committee of conference on the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill yesterday informally agreed upon the basis for settling their principal disagreement, as follows: The reduction in the number of clerks to be about two-thirds of the number originally proposed by the House; heads of executive departments to determine the classification of their respective clerical forces, and this conference committee to recommend that salaries be fixed accordingly. The committee adjourned until next Monday, and in the interval inquiries are to be made and information collected in the executive departments which it is hoped may lead to a final agreement on the basis above suggested.

The conference committee on the Diplomatic bill have also adjourned till Monday. No time is fixed for futher meetings on the Indian Appropriation and Military Academy bills.

Glover's Raid on Robeson.

It appears that nearly all of the noise about the impeachment of Robeson comes from Glover, the Chairman of the Real Estate Pool Committee. It seems that he has been acting by himself, the rest of the committee having failed for some days to meet. The probabilities now are that Glover will submit the question of impeachment, as will also the Naval Committee, and an attempt will be made to refer it to the Judiciary Committee. The Republicans will resist unless the Judiciary Committee is instructed to report back at once. They will not permit an adjournment with the charge hanging over Robeson.

Avery's Pardon.

The pardon of Wm. O. Avery, sentenced for complicity in the whisky frauds, has been prepared.

Nomination Confirmed.

The Senate has confirmed the nomination of James S. Delano, of Illinois, as Deputy Second Comptroller of the Treasury.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

"Liberals" Rallying to the Republican Standard.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Ethan Allen Chairman of the National Liberal Republican Committee, has issued an address annulling the call for a national convention to be held in Philadelphia on July 26, and supporting the Republican ticket.

Missouri Democrats.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—The Democratic State Convention did not adjourn until six o'clock this morning. A resolution was unanimously adopted that the Democratic party of Missouri commend the action of the lower House of Congress in curtailing extravagant expenditures of the Government and in investigating the corruptions of President Grant's appointees in the Cabinet and throughout all departments of the public service.

72,000 Barrels of Oil Destroyed.
Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

DILK STATION, PA., July 21, 1876.

The amount of oil destroyed at this writing is 72,000 barrels, with a probability of another tank of 24,000 barrels going. The oil run down about fifty rods to the Butler branch, and destroyed about thirty rods of truck.

The Yacht Disaster.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The body of Mr. Garner has been recovered from the yacht Mohawk, and divers are endeavoring to secure other bodies. Stapleton and New Brighton are draped in mourning. The sailors charge the whole misfortune upon Captain Rawlings, and he remains under arrest.

Later.—The bodies of Commodore Garner and wife, Miss Adele Hunter and a cabin boy, Peter Sullivan, have been recovered. Frost Thorne, a brother of Mrs. Garner, is still missing. He is thought to have been swept into the bay and drowned.

Charley Ross Again.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—A colored man giving his name as George, and saying his home was in Utica, N. Y., has appeared here and sought an interview with the police authorities. He said he had seen Charlie Ross alive and well within five weeks, and also that he was the servant of the gang of associates of Mosher and Douglas, who had charge of the stolen boy. He claims to be able to restore the child, and says he is after the reward, but did not dare come forward before. Little confidence is placed in his story.

The Cry for Bread in Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, July 21.—A mass meeting of twenty-five hundred unemployed workmen of this city was held here last night, in the City Hall, to petition the Mayor and City Councils to grant them relief. Resolutions were passed denouncing the City Councils, Governor Cochran and all the papers of the city for their indifference towards them. Good order prevailed during the meeting, and proper action will be taken upon their demands at once.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.
WILLIAM A. WHEELER,
OF NEW YORK.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 35¼f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 102⅞.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 111¾@111⅞.

THE storms have resulted in a purified atmosphere, and an improved temperature. Yesterday the weather was in every respect delightful.

CONGRESSMAN HOPKINS has been giving his views on the question of impeaching ROBESON. Were it not safely hemmed in with "ifs," we would have something to expend a criticism upon.

IT IS difficult to overstate the completeness of the business depression of England. The rates of wages have been reduced and a further reduction is talked of. Strikes are apprehended in all parts of the country, and a season of severe suffering is likely to follow.

TORNADOES are reported in different parts of the country, quite frequently, of late. The peculiarly destructive power of such storms was illustrated a few days since, in the lower part of Philadelphia, where half a million dollars of damages attended a passing storm.

THE report that SITTING BULL, the leader of the hostile Sioux was killed in the battle with CUSTER seems to be reasonably sure. His body is said to have been recognized by an interpreter belonging to General TERRY's command. This being true, the ablest leader of the hostile Indians is out of the way, and it is probable that they may soon be brought to terms.

WE hope the rumor that the President has pardoned AVERY and others may not prove true. His motives, in such an event, are sure to be impugned, and the pardon will work injury generally. We do not know on what the claims to pardon may be based, but even were they strictly proper, the pardon should only be granted through the usual channel. This requires a petition, endorsed by the District Attorney, and the recommendation of the Attorney General. As we understand it, none of the officers named have recommended the pardons, and, consequently, they should not be granted.

IF those who indulge in lottery speculations can take a hint, the action of the Government on that subject is a very suggestive one. The Postmaster General, sustained by the act of Congress, has declared unmailable letters, and circulars relating to lotteries, and managers are given to understand that the depositing of such letters and circulars to be sent by mail is an offense punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500. This applies to all lotteries, whether authorized by law or not. But it is proposed to contest this decision of the Postoffice Department, certain lottery men claiming that the statute as it now stands refers only to unauthorized lotteries.

APROPOS of our Indian war, might it not be a good thing for Congress to investigate how they get supplied with the best grades of arms and ammunition. It is certainly within the power of the Government to prevent them from obtaining arms, if the right effort is made, and this should be done. The Indians deserve right treatment, but should not be allowed arms dangerous in case of war. The report has been put into circulation that the peace policy is responsible for their being supplied with arms, but this is not the case. The course pursued under this policy was to secure for them fair and honest treatment, and to attempt to civilize them. The supply of rifles and fixed ammunition formed no part of the peace policy, and this fact should be generally understood. Still, they have been supplied through some source,—just what it is desirable to understand.

WE HAVE had one year, now, in which the balance of trade has been in our favor—one full, round year. In that time, our exports were $536,000,000, and our imports $460,000,000, leaving a balance in our favor of $70,000,000. Forthwith the hard money organs begin to inquire, why do not we resume, if a favorable balance of trade is all that is asked? We answer, that one year, or two, or any number less than five will not be sufficient for the result to be reached. The treasury dare not attempt to resume on $70,000,000. It must have $300,000,000 to do it. Then it may be added that in order to be benefited by the balance of trade in our favor, there must be conditions of prosperity at home. If, for example, by a decline of home business, we lose $70,000,000, and make that out of our balance of trade, we are just square. Had the balance of trade been against us the past year, requiring us to send $70,000,000 in gold abroad, we would have been in a severe strait. As it is, with all the advantages of the year, the United States Treasury has had all it could do to get along. Let us not, therefore, decry a blessing, because it does not achieve in a year, all that the most sanguine could expect in five years.

THE Reform scheme of the Democratic party, which was intended to catch the gullible, doesn't meet with all the success that was anticipated for it. The record of that party has been looked into, and it has been discovered that when in power, the Democraeic party has never developed any reforms whatever. It never originated a policy. It never sought to build up the enterprises of the country. We conclude that no reader of history will for a moment assume that the government from 1828 to 1860 was to be compared with that which prevailed most of the time from WASHINGTON down to the end of the term of the younger ADAMS for strength and efficiency. It is true that MADISON was a weak Executive, but even MADISON has nothing to fear from comparison with the Executives of the last thirty years of Democratic rule. We challenge the production of a single instance of reform attempted under Democratic rule. The civil service had the burden it now carries laid upon it by the Democratic party. The abuse of power so loudly complained of was inaugurated by this party. The expenditure of public moneys on party account was first practiced by the Democratic party. The entire cost of the Mexican war was incurred for the sole purpose of strengthening that party in the slaveholding States. The motive was not to aggrandize the nation but to aggrandize an aristocracy of perhaps three hundred thousand men. A beautiful party to talk reform.

THE Leader has the happy faculty of saying sometimes just the right thing in the right way. The Post has been trying to splutter over Reform, as though the Democratic party had suddenly become a paragon of virtue, and was to be entrusted with the duty of settling things right generally. The Leader thinks that the cry for Reform "is because of something that both parties have done. It is because of something that the Democratic House at Harrisburg has done as well as something the administration has done at Washington. One party, as a party, has just about as much rottenness in it as the other. The "Universal Cry" therefore has no particular reference to party. The great want that Reform has an eye to is men, good, honest, reliable men, to fill their offices. If the Post has such on its side of the field, let it trot them out; but it need not expect to make a merit out of the accidental circumstance of their party belonging, or at all to help their cause by sticking posters labeled "Democrat" on their backs. The indorsement will hurt much more than it will help. HAYES will be elected President, not because he is a Republican, but because the people know him and are assured of his fitness for the place."

THE EASTERN WAR.

Appearances indicate the failure of the efforts of the Servians against the Turks in the pending war, although the shifting character of the struggle shows the possibility of the prolongation of the war for some time. The Turks have shown more military strength than they were credited with possessing, and their armies have generally been better handled than it was thought they would be. The strange feature in this contest is in the sympathy that is apparently extended to Turkey in this struggle. England, the Roman Catholic Church, and Austria palpably sympathize with the Turks. The two first are supposed to be influenced by financial considerations, both having large investments in Turkish funds. Austria prefers to keep territorial lines unchanged, not wishing to keep closer company with Russia than she is now doing. Germany and Italy are as fairly neutral as they can well be, while France feels but little interest in the struggle. The result is the combatants will be left to fight it out on their own account, provided the war is not too much prolonged. Just the part Russia is secretly playing, no one can definitely determine. She is believed to be aiding and encouraging the Servians, but if so, she is cautious enough not to be discovered.

The great difficulty, it is understood, will be to repress the vengeance of the Turks, should they be triumphant. Their barbarities in Greece will undoubtedly be repeated in Servia, if opportunity offers. The Christian powers owe it to their reputation to prevent outbursts of savage ferocity, in the event of Turkish success. The several Christian provinces, had they cordially united, could probably have made headway against the Turks, but thus far, they have failed to act in concert, and so have not accomplished valuable results. All seem, too, to have underestimated the strength of the Turkish forces, and so have ventured on a struggle to which they are not fully equal. Yet emergencies may arise that will totally change the situation, and develop a general European war. Russia is eagerly watching her chance to give effect to the policy that has been adhered to through a century, and should a plausible pretext arise, will join in the fray, if the chances are not too great against her. Leaving these contingencies out of account, the outlook is unfavorable to the Servians, and the probabilities are that the Turks will gain the day. If this should happen, it will be an unfortunate event. Mohammedanism rests as a dark incubus on the fairest portions of Europe, while Christianity, and its accompanying civilization have been retarded and oppressed by the brutal policy of the Turks. The Great Powers look upon the subject from a purely political standpoint, and care nothing about the civilizing aspect of the case. So far as possible, the majority of those powers prefer to have things remain as they are, in order that finances, the distribution of power, and other perplexing subjects may be undisturbed. It is sometimes the case, however, that man proposes, and God disposes.

PUZZLING FACTS.

The declaration so frequently made that the restoration of gold payment in this country would restore prosperity, is neutralized at the present by the fact that England, a specie-paying country, is suffering more severely from business depression than we are. In the general, manufacturing industry over the entire world is depressed, the specie-paying countries suffering most. This undeniable fact at once dissipates the idea that the kind of money used has anything to do with the prosperity of the people. If the use of paper currency in this country prostrated business, and our prostration affected Europe, it would be a significant fact, as bearing on this question. But the pressure came upon Europe five months before it struck us; and so far from our depressing Europe, it helped to break us down. If, too, the causes of the business misfortunes prevailing originated here, they would naturally be most powerfully operative here. The fact is, however, that Europe is suffering far more keenly than are we. Her capitalists are breaking up, and her working classes are suffering intensely. All this teaches at least one lesson,—that whatever the cause for this condition of things may be, it is not chargeable to the kind of currency employed in business transactions. Hence the condition of the times afford no argument in behalf of a pressure for gold currency. We are ready to admit this: That when we shall have a sufficient return to prosperity to feel that we have overcome our misfortunes,—along with it will be progress toward a specie standard. This, at first blush, may not seem like a very logical statement, and yet it is. Whatever brings us a return of prosperity will set to work millions of willing hands, and the labor of these is what will bring about the conditions essential to specie payments. Hence while a direct struggle for specie payments will not promote, but, in our judgment, retard returning prosperity, it is also true, though apparently illogical, that the return of prosperity will promote, or bring near the resumption of specie payments.

If, then, the presence or absence of specie payments has nothing to do with the prevailing business depression, the question is naturally asked, what is the controlling cause. This is a most difficult and serious question. It has been declared to be the result of over-production, and manufactures have been stopped, and mills run on short time, in order to reduce the volume of production to the demands of consumption. But with the panic and consequent depression in business, consumption has fallen off, so that the manufactures of the world, even when run on short time, still supply more than enough to meet the demand. Consequently prices are ruinously low, and those in manufacturing forms of business who were carrying heavy debts, have, in large numbers failed. In one view these facts afford grounds for two very suggestive considerations. 1. That the population of the world, when employed, consumes largely, more particularly of luxuries and manufactures, than it does when unemployed. This proposition should not be considered at all strange. The difference between poverty and wealth centres here. The poverty-stricken family illustrates how cheaply, and with what few necessities, human beings can live. The wealthy family shows how much can be consumed, when persons have the means with which to purchase. In times of prosperity, we often remark the liberal, if not lavish manner, in some particulars, in which our laboring classes lived. Now they are compelled to economize, and this reasonably applies, not merely to food, but more largely to all manufactured articles, which enter so greatly into the comfort of our domestic life. Hence, in times of business depression consumption is largely reduced—a fact which, in itself continues and enlarges the scope of failures and troubles. Railroads have economized vastly in their expenses, wearing rails and using cars and material more closely. Whether, just before the panic, there was over production, is an open question; but since the depression in business set in, there is over production, undoubtedly, because consumption has been curtailed.

2. The other consideration is, have the appliances of manufacture, particularly by the aid of machinery, outgrown the increase of population and the possible demand. This is a very difficult question to answer, but we incline to the view that the increase has been out of proportion. Yet the fact that this vast increase of productive power was supported and sustained, so long as the masses of the people were employed, proves to our mind, that, given the same conditions, the same results will happen again. The statement so oracularly put forth, that over-production produced the panic, and broke down business generally, in 1873, was not true. The production at that time was not largely out of proportion with the demand. There are two irrefutable evidences of this: The stock of manufactures, at the time of the panic was not excessive; and manufactories were fairly supplied with orders for a year after the panic occurred. Whether the demand was stimulated is another question; but even here, we hold it was just what it will be again, under the same conditions. That is, restore activity to labor, and you again restore prosperity to the world. Now, consumption is far below the ability of manufactures to produce,—why? Because, being unemployed, the people are compelled to economize. Restore employment, and this necessity will pass away. We do not suppose the data, in actual facts and figures, is at command to illustrate these statements, but we are persuaded that they are rigidly correct.

EDUCATIONAL.

INDIANA, PA., July 20, 1876.

The Commencement exercises of the State Normal School of the Ninth District began on Saturday, the 15th inst., and closed Thursday, the 20th. Although the school has only been in operation a little over a year, it has met with unprecedented success, and its advantages seem to be fully appreciated by the people of this portion of the country.

The entertainment Saturday evening consisted of an exhibition by the scholars of the Model School, which is under the supervision of the Normal School, and is composed of boys and girls who are not sufficiently advanced in their studies to enter either of the regular Normal classes. The exhibition took place in the chapel and at an early hour in the evening the building was filled with an intelligent and appreciative audience. The entertainment consisted of essays, recitations, music and dialogues, and a more creditable entertainment was never given in the town. Much of the credit is due to Miss M. A. Butler and her assistant teachers for the proficiency displayed by the scholars.

Sunday afternoon the annual sermon was delivered by Dr. Fairchild, from Prov. III., 1, 2, "My Son forget not my law; but let thine heart keep My commandments; for length of days, and long life, and peace shall they add to thee." The discourse was able and impressive.

Monday evening the Huyghenian Literary Society gave an entertainment, with a varied programme, which was concluded with an address by Geo. P. Hays, D. D., President of Washington and Jefferson College.

Tuesday evening the Erodelphian society held their anniversary entertainment, at which an act from the "Merchant of Venice" was very creditably rendered.

Wednesday evening Dr. Fairchild delivered the address to the literary societies on the subject of "Eloquence."

Thursday evening the commencement exercises proper took place. Following is the programme:

H. R. Smith, oration—"Commencement." J. P. McCurdy, oration—"Night Brings out the Stars." S. U. Trent, oration—"Our National Morals." S. H. Whitehill, oration—"Revelations of the Telescope." SPECTATOR.

THE ELEMENTS OF ACTING.

Some of the Characteristics of Great Actors.

It appears to me that the two indispensible elements of fine acting are a certain amount of poetical imagination and a power of assumption, which is a good deal the rarer gift of the two; in addition to these a sort of vigilant presence of mind is necesary, which constantly looks after and avoids or removes the petty obstacles that are perpetually destroying the imaginary illusion and reminding one in one's own despite that one is not really Juliet or Belvidera. The curious part of acting to me is the sort of double process which the mind carries on at once, the combined operation of one's faculties, so to speak, in diametrically opposite directions; for instance, in that very last scene of Mrs. Beverly, while I was half dead with crying in the midst of the real grief, created on entirely unreal cause, I perceived that my tears were falling like rain all over my silk dress and spoiling it; and I calculated and measured most accurately the space that my father would require to fall in, and moved myself and my train accordingly in the midst of the anguish I was to feign, and absolutely did endure. It is this watchful faculty (perfectly prosaic and commonplace in its nature), which never deserts me while I am uttering all that exquisite passionate poetry in Juliet's balcony scene, while I feel as if my own soul was on my lips, and my color comes and goes with the intensity of the sentiment I am expressing, which prevents me from falling over my train; from setting fire to myself with the lamp placed close to me; from leaning upon my canvass balcony when I seem to throw myself all but over it. In short, while the whole person appears to be merely following the mind, in producing the desired effect and illusion upon the spectator, both the intellect and the senses are constantly engrossed in guarding against the smallest accidents that might militate against it; and while representing things absolutely imaginary, they are taking accurate cognizance of every real surrounding object that can either assist or mar the result they seek to produce. This seems to me by far the most singular part of the process, which is altogether a very curious and complicated one.—Mrs. Kimble, in Atlantic.

In a Hurry.

A Detroit Alderman was rather puzzled yesterday by a call from a stranger, who had a carpet-bag in each hand and a malicious look in his eyes. He let the carpet-bag drop, wiped off his forehead, and wanted to know if the man before him was an Alderman.

"I am," was the reply.

"Perfectly responsible, I s'pose?" was the query.

"I suppose I am."

"Well, sir," continued the stranger, "down here at the depot some one hit me on the neck with a stone."

"Did, eh?"

"Yes sir, he did, and I estimate the damage at $25.

"I am very sorry," remarked the Alderman. "It is no way to use a stranger to hit him on the neck."

"Of course it isn't, but I don't care for your soft words—I want $25.

"Why, I have nothing to do with it. I didn't hit you."

"I know you didn't, but you help run this town, don't you? Some one must be responsible. I am not the kind of a man to be hit on the neck and go right along without saying a word."

"I tell you what you do," said the Alderman, after a little reflection. "You go to the Mayor and get an order on me for the money and I'll pay it."

"That's angelic and all right," replied the man, and he steered for the City Hall. He began blowing around to some of the idlers in the corridors, and they sent him to a saloon on Monroe avenue "to see the Mayor's brother." He must have found some one there, and must have had some words. Those watching him saw his big satchel come out first, and then he slid out after it, hair on end and chin all bruised up, and as he reached the curbstone his small satchel hit him on the back with a loud "chug." He went down Woodward avenue stepping fast and high, and at Congress street ran against a woman and explained.

"In a hurry—didn't mean to—just licked the brother of the Mayor of this town stone blind."

GEN. STURGIS ON CUSTER.

A Further Expression of His Views—The Slain General Alleged to Have Been Reckless, Tyrannical, Selfish, and Unpopular.

The Chicago Tribune prints a telegram from St. Louis, dated 18th inst., in which its correspondent gives an account of an interview with Gen. Sturgis concerning the latter's recent criticism on Gen. Custer. The correspondent says:

Gen. Sturgis said: What I especially deprecate in the manner in which some papers have sought to make a demi-god out of Custer, and to erect a monument to Custer, and none to his soldiers. On the field of slaughter the bodies of three hundred or more soldiers were found piled up in a little ravine, while behind were found those of Custer and his brave little band of chosen officers. When the officers of these men fell, who was there to rally them? Why were not some of the other officers sent forward with them? If relief had come to the party between these two points, what a sight it would have been to find 300 soldiers collected on one side, and, in the rear, the commander of the little three surrounded by its officers. Mind I don't want to impugn their bravery. Custer was a brave man, but he was also a very selfish man. He was insanely for glory, and the phrase "Custer's luck" affords a good clue to his ruling passion. The public opinion regarding Custer is to a great extent formed from his writings and newspaper reports, and people having read these are very apt to refuse a hearing to the contrary statement, saying, in effect, "Oh, we know better than that;" and it is on account of this feature in public opinion that I do no not desire to put myself in a false position. People say: "Oh, yes; Gen. Sturgis has had his son killed. He feels it, and, while the feeling lasts, is liable to exaggeration. Then, too, he was the head of this regiment and anxious to be sent out with it, but was not sent. Custer was sent in his stead, and now he feels hurt." But that isn't it, altogether. What I would criticise is the want of judgment which drew these men into a trap. Before the war there were some of the army officers who had made reputations as Indian fighters. The record will show the most successful Indian fighters, and, without any undue conceit, I think I may claim a place in that list. I never went after them that I didn't catch them. The report of the Secretary of War in 1860 will show that I followed the Iowas and Comanches so that their camps were entirely broken up, and they caused no further trouble. Oakes and Hazen were also good Indian fighters. But the war is over; the old authorities that knew us are all gone. A new set of officers has arisen, and a young America has grown up at the same time. Indian warfare is no picnic, as some people regard it. The Sioux can raise 6,000 or 7,000 men at a day's notice, and are quite formidable. When I knew that my boy had gone out, and that General Terry was in command, I considered that we were tolerably fortunate. Terry has a matured judgment, and I looked for the campaign to be conducted on good military principles, instead of which Custer made his attack recklessly, earlier by thirty-six to forty-eight hours than he should have done, and with men tired out by forced marches. Why, if they had caused the Indians to retreat, they could not possibly have followed them. I feel, too, that when the news is received from individuals of the regiment, it will fully sustain the position I take. Custer was not a popular man among his troops, by any means. He was tyrannical, and had no regard for the soldiers under him.

Gen. Sturgis gave it as his opinion that the Government will have to call for mounted volunteers to quell the Indian war, and that it will take at least 7,000 well disciplined cavalrymen to do the work.

MUSIC BY TELEGRAPH.

The Latest Wonder in the Scientific World.

The readers of the Traveller have been made acquainted with the wonderful inventions of Professor Bell, by which musical and vocal sounds may be and have been sent over the electric wires, but few if any are aware of the wonderful results which are sure to follow these improvements in telegrapp. A few nights ago Professor Bell was in communication with a telegraph operator in New York, and commenced experimenting with one of his inventions pertaining to the transmission of musical sounds. He made use of his phonetic organ and played the tune of "America," and asked the operator in New York what he heard.

"I hear the tune of America," replied New York; "give us another."

Professor Bell then played Auld Lang Syne.

"What do you hear now?"

"I hear the tune of Auld Lang Syne, with the full chorus, distinctly," replied New York.

Thus, the astounding discovery has been made that a man can play upon musical instruments in New York, New Orleans, or London, or Paris, and be heard distinctly in Boston! If this can be done, why cannot distinguished performers execute the most artistic and beautiful music in Paris, and an audience assemble in Music Hall, Boston, to listen?

Professor Bell's other improvement, namely, the transmission of the human voice, has become so far perfected that persons have conversed over one thousand miles of wire with perfect ease, although as yet the vocal sounds are not loud enough to be heard by more than one or two persons. But if the human voice can now be sent over the wire, and so distinctly that where two or three known parties are telegraphing, the voice of each can be recognized, we may soon have distinguished men delivering speeches in Washington, New York or London, and audiences assembled in Music Hall or Faneuil Hall to listen!

THE NATION'S WHITE HOUSE.

The Presidential Home an Unhealthy Place of Residence.

The White House in itself is not a fit place for a President's mansion, and so far as healthfulness and living goes, it is a cesspool of malaria. The grounds at the rear of the house run down, including the "white lot," to the edge of the Potomac river. At this point the river, owing to the improvements which have recently been made in laying out a water front boulevard to the docks which have been constructed in order to enable the sloops to land stone for the State Department building, and by reason of the rapid accumulation of soil in the Potomac, which is speedily filling up the river, although is little better than a stagnant marsh. The Kidwell bottoms, a murky lowland uncovered at low tide, and scarcely covered at full tide, aid in breeding the malaria. In fact, the entire Potomac river front, immediately beneath the bedroom windows of the White House, is a Pontine marsh. At all seasons of the year the malarial scourge rises, and in the spring and fall, when the summer heats render putrid the decaying vegetation, the malarial poison constantly penetrates the White House windows. Added to this, the White House, strange as it may seem, is not supplied with the conveniences of modern times. Until within two years there was not a water-closet under the roof of the White House, and bath rooms have been but very recently placed in this ancient structure. The ceilings of the part which is occupied by the President and his household are very low. The building is infested with rats, the sewerage defective, the water supply is not always adequate, and altogether, with the thermometer at 98 degrees in the shade, with persistent politicians kicking their heels in the anteroom, and the more persistent ones bothering the Presidential mind inside his study, the White House, as a home, is not an attractive place for residence in the summer months.—Wash. Cor.

A Timely Resurrection.

The conductor of one of the Central Pacific passenger trains, while making a trip recently, was informed that a man had died in the forward sleeper. He proceeded to the car, found the man, and concluded to have him removed to one of the rear cars where there were but few passengers, feeling that the presence of death in a car filled with people would cause great uneasiness, to say the least. The body was accordingly transferred to the other car, the conductor saw that it was properly placed, and went forward to attend to his duties. Some time afterward, while going through the rear car, he was not a little astonished to find the body sitting up, and swearing, in a manner that any well regulated corpse would be ashamed of, that he could whip the conductor and all hands. He had only been dead drunk.

A Young Girl's Lesson.

Mrs. M. H. Fiske describes in the Arcadian a love adventure of John Brougham's which happened many years ago, when he was the idol of the New York belles. A young school girl was in the habit of sending him perfumed notes filled with gush, and the genial John, desiring to "wake her up," appointed a meeting, at which he took the young lady to the death bed of a poor creature, who related to the romantic miss the tale of her life, which commenced in much the same way and under the same circumstances as that of her listener. It is needless to remark that the young lady went home cured.

A Wedding Postponed.

Great preparations were made at a house on Madison avenue for the marriage of a young lady who had been wooed and won by the son of a prominent insurance agent in this city. The Rev. Dr. Reeves, who was absent in Schenectady, was sent for, and he, engaged another preacher to fill his place, hurried back to Albany to pronounce the solemn words which were to make the twain one flesh. The bride was arrayed for the ceremony; the guests assembled, but the bridegroom came not. The hour was postponed, and the irate father of the bride, hat in hand, started out to find the whereabouts of his prospective son-in-law. His stay was a short one, but the tidings he brought were indeed startling to the happy company. On going to the home of the young man it was found that he had suddenly departed for California, leaving no word behind him. At the news of this desertion the bride sank fainting on the floor, while her mother went into fits. The company at once dispersed to gossip over the untoward ending of the affair, and to speculate as to the cause of the bridegroom's departure. It is said that some time ago, on pretense of changing the ring which he gave her, he took it away and never returned it. The young lady is quite ill from the mental distress.—Albany Times.

England's Royal Household.

The Galaxy, speaking of the domestic relations, of the English royal family, says that "it was a disappointment to the blood royal that the Duke of Cambridge did not marry a German Princess, and it is a sore subject with the Queen's sons that their sister Louise should have married a Marquis. Lord Lorne is terribly snubbed by the lot. The Prince of Teck, who married the Princess Mary of Cambridge, likewise is a source of trouble, for, being a handsome fellow, he is liable to allurements which disturb conjugal felicity. Prince Christian, who has married another of the Queen's daughters, is regarded as a questionable character, because he had previously contracted a morganatic marriage; and the Duke of Edinburgh is 'bothering entirely' on account of the rank of his wife, who, as the daughter of an Emperor, is a stickler for precedence at court. The Prince of Wales is very happily married, but he had some narrow escapes of being led into immoral and illegal connections."

Great Closing Out-Sale
OF
Dry Goods.
We are offering some special attractions this week, among which we mention a few:
400 REAL SHETLAND SHAWLS,
In White, White and Red, White and Blue, White and Black. Also, Plain, Black and Red. These are real Shetland goods of our own importation, but got out too late last season to sell. They are worth $3 and $4. We will close them at $1 and $1.50.
Parasols and Sun Umbrellas.
To close the remainder of our large stock we will sell them at not over one half the regular price. We have but few left and they must be sold.
Remnants.
We have made a special remnant department in the rear of our store room, and have gathered the accumulated remnants of Dress Goods remaining after our season's business, and have marked them in length and price in plain figures at about one-third the real value. This is the largest remnant sale we ever made, and purchasers of Dry Goods can find some bargains that will repay their attendance.
We are selling an immense quantity of goods, and still have an immense quantity to dispose of. Call and see what we are doing and what bargains we are offering.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

The better character of the weather, yesterday, gave increased activity to the banking business of the city, but not enough to materially change the general relation of things. We are in the summer period, when very few large enterprises are launched, or business is pressed with much vigor. The banks are pursuing a cautious policy, and this as much as else, because, to a very considerable extent, iron customers are being carried. This leads them to be cautious about new ventures of a kind not likely to be promptly met at maturity. In business directions, particularly in the line of manufactures, there is some improvement, but not enough to be more than an earnest of a more hopeful future. Still, many of our manufacturers look forward to a more active and successful fall trade.

—Silver coin is said to be quite plenty and in common circulation in the interior of the country, and especially at the west. The reason is obvious. It does not pay to transport it to New York for exportation. To this we may add that the interior has never had an adequate volume of sound currency. It is for this reason that the greenback notes and National bank circulation proved so universally popular here. The people did not for a time believe it possible to get coin for common use or to maintain it in circulation, but the moment the silver became available they seized upon it. More coin was issued at Chicago than in Philadelphia. Although the amount of silver put into circulation is still far below the wants of the country, it has made a very decided impression upon affairs in general, and no one now entertains the least doubt that the coin will be retained in use, and that the fractional currency will be extinguished.

—The situation in New York is very similar, just now, to that of London. Prime mercantile paper is scarce and passes at low rates, and it is difficult to loan money on call at 2@2½ per cent. Ever since the July disbursements were inaugurated capital has been flowing into Government bonds and good railway mortgages, and the prices of these have steadily improved. Investors seem to have shunned the stock list, partly on account of the heavy decline in some of the coal stocks and partly on account of the railway war, which has resulted in a reduction on through freights to the lowest rates ever known.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

The following transfers of real estate have been placed on file in the Recorder's office since our last report:

NEW YORK, July 21, 1876.

Money closed easy at 2@2½; prime mercantile paper 3@4. The customs receipts were $306,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $223,000. The clearings were $13,000,000. Sterling Exchange was dull, asking 489@491. Gold was firm at 111⅞@111½. The carrying rates were ½@1. Loans were also made flat. Governments were strong and higher, the demand active and the offerings small. Railroad bonds were strong and higher, especially for Pacific issues and Northwest consolidated gold coupons. State bonds were dull. Stocks were dull and strong, with nothing doing requiring special comment. The closing prices were the best of the day. The transactions were only 42,000 shares, of which 3,000 were Pacific Mail, 5,000 Western Union, 5,000 St. Pauls, 17,000 Lake Shore, and 4,000 Michigan Central.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Business was a little more active with commission houses. Cotton flannels were in good demand, and prices for the season have been made by leading agents. Cheviots are in fair request. Medium and dark fancy prints sold in moderate amounts. Hosiery and Cardigan jackets are in better request. A large line of blankets was offered at auction, and sold low. Foreign goods are quiet.

Cotton.

COMMERCIAL.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

There was a better feeling in commercial circles, in consequence of the cooler weather, but there was no perceptible improvement in business, nor is it to be expected at this particular time. The leading articles of merchandise present no new or important characteristics deserving of special notice.

APPLES—Market overstocked and very dull—quotable $1a1,50 ℔ bbl for fair to prime.

BERRIES—Black, Rasp and Whortle berries were in large supply, and prices were weak and lower; sales were made at 75ca$1 ℔ bucket, as to quality, size and condition.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for prime Butter, and we can report sales of prime to choice solid packed, in firkins and tubs, at 18a20c.

CHEESE—The market is a little slow, but with a light stock prices are fully maintained. Prime Ohio Factory quoted at 8c to the trade, and 9c in a jobbing way.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little or nothing doing in either domestic or foreign dried fruits, and in the absence of sales prices are entirely nominal.

EGGS—The market continues dull, but the supply is not large and prices are still maintained. Fresh receipts, guaranteed as such, fairly quotable at 14a15c.

FLOUR—Offish in tone but unchanged in price. Quotations may be given as follows: Spring wheat flours, $6a6,50, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; red winters, $6,50a7; ambers, $7.25a7,50; patent process and fancy white wheat, $8,50a9,50. Rye Flour, $4,50a5.

GROCERIES—A correspondent in Philadelphia, writing under date of Wednesday, says: "The entire market for sugars is flat, the whole snap recently noted having gone out of it between daylight and dark this morning and last night, the market opening to-day with telegrams from New York asking for bids for refined at ⅛c off, which drove every buyer off the street and brought sellers on who had been taking more freely than their wants of late, and at the close refined and extra C yellow sugars could not have been sold at ¼c off yesterday's rates in any amounts, although the manufacturers were asking the rates quoted yesterday. Never did a collapse more sudden or complete overtake any market for legitimate products, and seldom one for speculative stocks." Our latest advices from New York, however, do not report any decline, and there is a possibility that the correspondent above quoted, may be bearishly inclined. Coffee continues dull, and the general outlook at the present writing, warrants the prediction that prices will rule lower yet.

GRAIN—There is little or nothing doing in Wheat in our market, and in the absence of sales it is difficult to give quotations. The indications just now are that prices will be considerably lower than they have been for several years. The Oat market is possibly a shade easier under the influence of increased receipts, but prices are still maintained; 35a38c, free in elevator, as to quality. Shelled Corn is in light supply, but there does not appear to be much inquiry for it; we continue to quote at 57a60c free in elevator. Rye unchanged at 75a78c.

HAY—Loose is selling from country wagons at $10a15 for new and $15a20 for old, as to quality. Baled quoted at $15a16, for No. 1 timothy.

MILL FEED—Bran quoted on track at $11a12; middlings and chopped feed, $18a20.

ONIONS—In good supply and very dull; holders generally are taking just whatever they can obtain, being anxious to close out.

POTATOES—In good supply and prices are lower—$2a2,25 ℔ bbl. It is said shipments are now being made from Cincinnati to Baltimore.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued fair demand, but while prices are easier, under the influence of yesterday's advices from the west, there has been no decline in our market as yet.

THE IRON TRADE.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON—The volume of business reported for the past week was much less than that of the one preceding, but the general tone of the market continues steady, and notwithstanding the demand is light, prices, in view of reduced stocks and a diminished production, are fully maintained. The feeling is very generally entertained that pig iron has touched hard pan, and as current rates scarcely cover actual cost, an improvement is not improbable if there is anything like an average consumption this fall. The stock of foundry is also down as well as mill irons, and good brands, of both grades, are held with considerable tenacity at full prices.

Following sales were reported:

COKE.

50 tons No. 1 Foundry	$23a24 00	4 mos

OLD RAILS.

100 tons Old Rails	23 00	cash

CHARCOAL.

50 tons Mill H R	22 50	cash

CONNELLSVILLE COKE.

600 tons Gray Forge	21 00	4 mos
500 tons Gray Forge	20 00	cash
20 tons No. 2 Foundry	23 00	4 mos

MANUFACTURED IRON—There is no change to note in the general position of the market for finished irons; business is very generally reported dull, as it usually is this month, and a number of the mills are stopped taking stock and making repairs. Prices unchanged; we continue to quote at 2,30a2,50, 60 days, according to size of order. The next regular meeting of the Western Iron Association will take place in Cincinnati on the 25th inst.

NAILS—The market continues quiet, and no decided improvement is looked for until next month. The probability is that business will not be as active during the last as it was during the first half of the year, nor is it to be expected. Prices unchanged: $2,85, 60 days, for less than 200 kegs, and $2,75, 60 days, for orders of 200 kegs and upwards. Usual discount of two ℔ cent for cash. It is said that stocks in the hands of agents and jobbers are rather larger than usual.

STEEL—There is less activity in the steel trade; some of our manufacturers report that business has fallen off considerably since the first of the month, but this is not unusual at this particular time, and an early improvement is expected.

SCRAP—There is little or nothing doing in either scrap iron or steel, and prices are easy but nominally unchanged. No. 1 wrought scrap quoted at $27a28, delivered.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

The Crude market was firmer, and prices, as compared with yesterday, considerably higher. United quoted at $2.27½; Union, $2,16½; immediate shipment, $2,45. The advance was attributed in part to the destruction of some 55,000 barrels by fire, at Dilk's Station, which was started by lightning. Refined also firm and higher; New York, 17¼ bid; Philadelphia, 17a17⅛; Baltimore, 17; on cars here, 13⅛a13⅜.

The New York Bulletin alluding to the freight discrimination and combinations by railway or other corporations, says it has no sympathy with any movement which proposes to impose unjust restrictions on any branch of industry. It thinks, however, that the oil dealers should have exhausted every means of redress in the State legislature or the State courts before carrying it into Congress, and says: "We suppose it is to rectify just such wrongs of one class upon another that such things as State courts and State legislatures exist. We know it costs the taxpayers a great deal of money to maintain them, and if they cannot be depended upon to protect the citizen from spoliation and robbery they might as well be abolished, in which case there will be no hindrance to Congress doing anything it please. How far have the oil producers availed themselves of these local opportunities for redress before invoking the interference of the Federal Government?"

Oil Barrels—countries $1,35a1,40; city make held at $1,55a1,60 according to size.

The Wheat Problem.

The wheat problem is that which now engages the attention of the majority of operators in produce, and it is an enigma to all of them. The situation in New York is paralyzing the wheat trade of the country, and with little hope of material improvement so long as the hot weather continues. The heat is so intense on the seaboard, and there is so much moisture in the wheat, as the result of a wet harvest, that they are obliged to spread out the wheat in New York to keep it from utterly spoiling, and cannot store so much as they would under other circumstances in the same room. Hence the grain-dealers of New York are unable to take care of all the wheat on hand, and shipments to that point are particularly stopped, especially as British buyers are afraid to touch the wheat, because of the reports of condition. Our own wheat is all right, but there is scarcely any market for it, and so prices continue to recede nearer and nearer to the zero point, and will probably continue to do so till the heated term is over, or till the quotations here have sunk so far as to discourage country holders from forwarding their wheat. There is a decided disposition here to force prices down to what some people call a shipping value, which, under present conditions, means not far from 50c, as with every decline here New York would go lower. The only thing to do is to hold the wheat here for the present. Our warehouses keep it cool, and the temperature in Chicago is much more favorable to its preservation in good order than that of Buffalo or New York, to say nothing of the heat encountered on the journey. It would be simply financial suicide for holders of wheat here to send it forward now, to find a market in New York, and they are not making the attempt. This accounts for the big premium now paid for carrying wheat in this city—it is unavoidable under the circumstances, and, as the old proverb has it, "What can't be cured must be endured."—Chicago Tribune.

JAMES MITCHELL,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 3 feet 4 inches, and falling. Weather cool and pleasant. Business continues quiet, as it always is this month.

THE Josephine was to have left Bismarck yesterday for the Yellowstone.

THE Granite State departed last evening with a very fair trip for Portsmouth.

THE Salt Valley is due from Ironton to-morrow and will return on Monday at 4 P. M.

THE Rover arrived with three barges of old railroad iron, a part of the Ironsides tow. The Ironsides is reported at Safe Harbor waiting for more water.

IT is said Capt. Irwin Dugan will retire from the wrecking business next fall, and go into the coal business at Louisville with Capt. A. H. Dugan, his brother.

THE owners of the Nellie Peck, at St. Louis, it is said, have received a telegram from the United States authorities to take their boat to Yankton immediately.

THE Perry Smith was sold at Zanesville, on Wednesday, Capt. Wm. T. Dawson being the purchaser. He intends running her as a daily packet between Steubenville and New Cumberland.

AFTER seventeen years hard service, and finding his health somewhat impaired, Pat Murphy, the champion newsman of the Falls City, retires from active service, and will lay up for repairs for a while.

THE Mississippi river is said to discharge 28,188,-083,892 cubic feet of sediment annually. One cubic mile is formed in 5 years and 81 days. The quantity annually discharged is sufficient to cover a township 5 miles square with a layer of mud 40 feet thick.

THE Exchange is the regular Cincinnati packet to-day, leaving at 4 P. M. Capt. J. M. Kirker is in command and the Maddy Brothers are associated together in the office. She is an A1 low-water boat, and offers superior accommodations to passengers.

ACCORDING to the Keokuk Gate City, the Minneapolis just escaped the raking of her cabin and everything in it at the Keokuk Bridge on Friday. The bridge engineer was away, the firemen didn't understand the machinery, the Minneapolis came up at full speed and—was stopped when she was within a few feet of the draw-bridge. The fireman was the most frightened man in America on that day.

WM. THRASHER died in Covington on Wednesday, of consumption, aged 45, and his remains were taken to Moscow on the City of Portsmouth for interment. He was clerk on the steamer Gov. Breathette in 1847, with Captain Amos Shinkle. He was also clerk on the Boone and Kenton in the Maysville trade, with Capt. Graff Molen. After spending several years in California he returned, and became ticket agent for the Cincinnati and Covington Suspension Bridge Co. He was unmarried.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, of Wednesday says: Business fair. The Commonwealth received liberally, and will get away for New Orleans to-morrow or Friday. The Mary Miller left for Pittsburgh with 400 tons, including 4,500 sks of grain and shipstuff, 500 kgs spikes, 250 bbls flour, 20 tons miscellaneous freight and fifteeen passengers. The Fontenelle will not get away for a day or two yet. The Nellie Peck leaves here for Bismarck Saturday, where she has a cargo engaged for Fort Benton. H. A. Dohrman, clerk of the Belle of Shreveport, is quite ill at the Laclede Hotel, but a little better this evening. Com. Davidson made a trip up past the city with one of his new boats, and her speed and general appearance were highly praised by all who saw her. There are no tow-boats loading ore at the pile.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.

Drs. Jordan and Davieson

Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&S

☞ KEYSTONE DISPENSARY, No. 302 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a special institution, having a Union-wide reputation for the reliable and successful treatment of Private and Urinary diseases, Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, etc. Everybody should read TRUE MARRIAGE GUIDE, 144 pages; illustrated; cloth and gilt binding; about wonders of reproductive system, marriage, proper age and condition, marriage impediments, causes and consequences. Price 50 cents. Address as above, or call DR. WHITTIER. d&S

☞ PRIVATE DISEASES.—OFFICE 194 PENN STREET, next door to the St. Clair Hotel. For the cure of all diseases of a private nature in from two to four days, by an entirely new and safe treatment. Also, seminal weakness, impotency and all other diseases of the genital organs, and their prevention. A cure warranted or money refunded. Has Diploma in the office, and is a regular physician of 20 years standing in this city, and has cured over 10,000 cases. For Circulars and Book, 10c., address DOCTOR W., 194 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa. Office hours from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. Sundays excepted.

HOME NEWS.

Parties who do not receive the GAZETTE by 7 A. M., are requested to notify the office, and the tardiness will be corrected at once.

The probabilities for to-day are partly cloudy weather and lower temperature than on Friday, light easterly to southerly winds, veering, followed by falling barometer.

Obituary.

The numerous friends of ex-Mayor Jas. Lowry will with regret learn of the death of that gentleman, which occurred at St. Louis Thursday night. His death was sudden and unexpected to his friends, as recent advices from him stated that he was in good health. The deceased was at one time a prominent man in this county and city, having been once elected Coroner of the county, and afterward, in 1864, elected Mayor of the city. He was appointed Collector of Customs under President Johnson, and held the office for about five months. He subsequently engaged in the coal business, and removed from this city to St. Louis, where he was engaged in the coal trade up to the time of his death. He was a gentleman of fine social qualities, and leaves many warm friends in this city who will sympathize deeply with his family in this the hour of their sad bereavement. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

THE VETERANS.

Informal Meeting Last Night—General Negley Present.

An informal meeting of the Vetrans was held in City Hall last evening, Major Will M. Hartzell presiding.

General Negley having returned from Washington, appeared and read the bounty bill that is now pending. He also made a few remarks pertinent to the occasion.

After some informal talk, it was decided to direct the chairman to call a meeting for next Tuesday evening, after which the meeting adjourned.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Boy Run Over by the Cars.

Yesterday morning Samuel Jones, a youth of sixteen, set out, in company with two other boys named Weaver and Green, for the purpose of picking blackberries. They went on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, and having remained in a field most of the day, returned to Laurel Station on their way back, when Jones, in attempting to get aboard one of the cars, fell under one of the wheels which passed over his body, causing instant death. His remains were brought by rail to the Federal street depot, thence to the parental residence at No. 141 Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny. Owing to the illness of Coroner McCallin, Alderman Butler was commissioned to hold an inquest on the body. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Look Well to Your Feet.

It is but a rational desire among both sexes to have a neatness of foot, or to wear such a shoe or boot as will compel a neatness of the foot, and yet how many suffer tortues and torments indescribable in this endeavor, whereas if they should purchase their boots and shoes at a house where they could have different varieties of the same number all pinching, soreness and annoyance would be obviated. Feet differ in shape as the complexion and countenance differ. Now, go to Taggart's, 129 Federal street, Allegheny, and, be the shape of your foot what it may, it can be fitted so as to ensure ease and comfort in the wear.

POLITICAL.

The Wakening Sound of Battle.

A large meeting of colored citizens of Allegheny and Pittsburgh assembled in Baptist Hall, Park Way, last evening, to complete the organization of a semi-political society known as the L'Oeuvretuere Labor League, and to make arrangements for the formation of Hayes and Wheeler marching clubs. There was present Wm. Nesbit, Esq., of Altoona, President of the State Equal Rights League. He stated that the political convention of the league in Philadelphia, is expected to be the largest ever held in this State by colored men. It will convene on the 15th of August.

Resolutions were adopted which warmly endorsed the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler, and declared the purpose of the colored voters to stand by our national, State and county ticket.

Speeches were made by the Chairman, Harrison Taylor, Philip Peterson, G. S. Woodson, B. F. Pulpress, S. A. Neale and others, after which rallying committees were appointed to call meetings for marching clubs.

CROOKED PROCEEDINGS.

Further from the Howard Street Investigation.

Another meeting of the Howard Street Wall Investigating Committee of Allegheny Councils was held last evening.

Mr. Biber reported the sinking of several wells on the inside of the wall, and the discovery that the wall was not as thick at one point as it should be.

City Engineer Davis submitted a drawing, showing the wall as it should be and the wall as it actually is. Also a statement showing that there are 315½ perches of stone work less than the plans required, and adding to this 109 perches, the amount in the eleven feet which were wrongfully charged to property holders instead of to the city, amounts to 424 perches, costing $2,729.53, to be deducted from the amount assessed upon the property holders. Besides this, it is expected that nearly $1,000 more will be added to the amount, it having been charged for extra grading and for removing earth that had slipped down upon the street, which must be paid by the city.

The committee discussed the matter informally at great length, and finally it was decided that the committee should visit and examine the wall while the wells sunk alongside it are open.

The committee then adjourned until Tuesday evening.

THE EXPOSITION.

Its Prospects this Season.

The Pittsburgh Tradesmen's Industrial Institute, as will be seen by advertisement in this morning's issue, will open the exposition on the 16th of next month, and the exhibition promises to surpass not only that of last year, but anything of its character ever held west of the mountains. The buildings are being renovated and remodeled, and an extensive addition to be used as a Floral Hall is in course of erection, and the work is progressing rapidly. The applications for space by exhibitors are greater in variety and in number than they were last season, and Pittsburgh will be more generally represented than it was last year. The addition of Floral Hall will give a large amount of additional space, which from present indications will be needed, while it adds an attractive feature to the Exposition. The Art Gallery, which was so much admired last year, promises to be still more full and attractive than it was last year, and every branch of Pittsburgh industries will be fully represented. Exhibitors who have not yet applied for space should make their applications at once, so as to give time for a proper arrangement of the hall.

The managers are all working for the success of the exhibition and are aided in their efforts by all the leading merchants and manufacturers of the two cities, and where there is such general unity of action, the enterprise cannot fail to be a success.

PATTERSON'S GROVE.

A New Camp Meeting Ground.

As announced in the GAZETTE of yesterday morning a meeting was held at Patterson's Grove, on the Monongahela river, near Monongahela City, for the purpose of organizing a Camp Meeting Association, and selecting a site for a camp meeting ground. A special or free excursion train left the depot of the P. V. & C. R. R., Fourth avenue, yesterday morning, carrying a large number of persons to the grove. Delegates were present from Monongahela City, Elizabeth, West Elizabeth, Pine Run, McKeesport, Braddock's Field and from the M. E. Churches on the South Side.

The meeting organized by calling Rev. W. Lynch to the chair, and appointing Revs. C. M. Westlake and R. C. Craft secretaries.

Some discussion ensued relative to the propriety of holding a camp meeting, after which the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we appoint a committee to conferr with Mr. Patterson relative to leasing the ground.

Resolved, That the committee call on Mr. Patterson and see what his conditions are for leasing the ground, and report forthwith.

The following named gentlemen were appointed the committee: Rev. Baker, John Adams, J. N. O'Neil, Joshua S. Craft, John O'Neil, Jr., Isaac Jones, M. Bourland, W. Hobson, C. C. Fawcett and C. W. Taylor.

The report of this committee was presented, and was so favorable that it was unanimously agreed to, except the kind offer of Mr. Patterson.

Some discussion arose as to whether they could have a meeting on the ground this year, and a meeting was called for Tuesday, the 25th, at 10½ o'clock, at Patterson's grove, to decide the matter.

The P. V. & C. railroad will furnish free transportation to and from the grounds on that day and also offers to carry all tents and lumber for building purposes free of charge.

A resolution was passed requesting Rev. C. M. Westlake and R. C. Craft to take measures to see how many would attend the camp meeting, after which the assembly adjourned to meet on the ground Tuesday.

The Bread baked by S. S. Marvin & Co., is meeting with the highest commendation by all who use it. Retail at 18 Fifth avenue.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Brief Notes of Matters Personal and Otherwise.

REV. G. H. HUMPHREY, of the South Side, will preach to-morrow morning only.

BISHOP SIMPSON'S new work, "A Hundred Years of Methodism," is in press, and will soon appear.

REV. L. B. BEACOM will fill the pulpit of the South Common M. E. Church, Allegheny, as usual, to-morrow.

SUNDAY EVENING service has been suspended at the North Avenue M. E. Church, Allegheny, until after the heated term.

SERVICES in the Second U. P. Church, Sixth avenue, to-morrow, will be conducted by Rev. J. R. Kyle, of Fall River, Mass.

BISHOP ESHER, of the Evangelical Association, is preparing the German Hymn Book, and Bishop Yeake is writing the life of Albright.

REV. DR. J. M. THOBURN, of India, now in the East, expects to attend some camp meetings in Ohio, before he returns to his mission work.

REV. R. W. PEARSON, D. D., will preach in the new main building of Fourth avenue Baptist Church to-morrow morning and in the chapel in the evening.

REV. DR. R. W. PEARSON will deliver the address before the literary societies of Monongahela College, at the commencement on Wednesday, at Jefferson, Pa.

REV. R. B. MOORE will preach a historical discourse, to-morrow morning in the Fourth Presbyterian Church, corner of Twenth-fourth street and Penn avenue.

THE Rev. W. C. Burchard, of the Presbytery of Allegheny, has declined the call to Parnassus,, Presbytery of Blairsville, and will remain with the Valley Presbyterian church.

THE Sunday School connected with Trinity Episcopal Church held its annual picnic at Ross' Grove on Wednesday. There was a large attendance, and the picnic was an enjoyable success.

THE Retreats for the Clergy of the Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, Bishop Tuigg's, will be held at St. Michael's Seminary. The first will begin on the 7th of August, and the second on the 21st.

REV. LEONARD M. GARDINER, formerly pastor of Liberty Street M. E. Church of this city, now of Baltimore, was bequeathed a legacy of five thousand dollars by Mrs. Susie Duke Callow, of Baltimore. He was her pastor some years ago.

MOST of our clergymen are absent now, and the youthful substitute looks dismally down from the pulpit upon the scanty congregation and wonders what brother will ask him to dinner after service.

THE congregations of the Bellefield and Shadyside Presbyterian churches will worship together at Bellefield to-morrow morning and at Shadyside to-morrow evening. Rev. W. J. Holland will preach.

REV. C. C. THOMAS, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church at Wheeling, West Va., has fallen heir to a fortune of several hundred thousand dollars, left him by his father. So says the Western Advocate.

THE Rev. John Heber McCandless, late rector of "All Saints" Church, in this city, is now in union with the (Episcopal) Diocese of Northern New Jersey. His address for the present is 731 High street, Newark, N. J.

REV. B. F. WOODBURN, pastor of the Sandusky street Baptist Church, Allegheny, will discourse upon the subject, "The Mysteries of the Kingdom," to-morrow morning, and in the evening on "The Way of Cain."

SEVENTY-FIVE persons, probationers who had served their term, were admitted into full membership at the Arch street M. E. Church, Allegheny, last Sabbath, Rev. E. M. McGuire pastor. It was an impressive occasion.

THE Rev. Samuel Findley, D. D., formerly pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of this city, but now of a church at Carlisle station, Ohio, has been here visiting relatives. He is in good health and fine spirits.

REV. WILLIAM A. EDIE, formerly of this city, now of Baltimore, Md., will preach to-morrow at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M., in the Fourth U. P. church, Allegheny, corner of Arch street and Montgomery avenue.

DR. S. M. VERNON, of the Emory (East End) Methodist Episcopal Church, preached the Baccalaureate sermon at the late commencement of the Iowa Wesleyan University, and also delivered the annual address. Subject, "The Land of the Artist."

AT a meeting of the Fourth U. P. congregation, Allegheny, on Wednesday evening, Rev. James Fulton, brother of Wm. Fulton, their late pastor, received almost a unanimous vote for pastor. Arrangements were then made for making a formal call.

TO-DAY the Zion camp meeting will be inaugurated at Castle Shannon. The Bishop of the Conference, Rev. J. J. Moore, of North Carolina, will be present to conduct the services on Sunday. Trains will be run on the Castle Shannon Railroad every half hour.

BISHOP DOMENEC announces that the annual Retreat of the Clergy will commence on the evening of the 21st of August. The Retreat will be held as usual at St. Francis' College, Loretto, which all the secular clergy of the Diocese of Allegheny, are obliged to attend. There will not be a second Retreat.

MR. SPURGEON shuts himself up on Saturdays. There is a story told of a man who called on Saturday and insisted on seeing him. The servant inquired who he was. "Tell him a servant of the Lord wishes to see him." The message was delivered, and Mr. Spurgeon sent back the answer: "Tell him I am engaged with his Master."

THE Third Ward Mission Sabbath School, E. Lindsey Grier, Superintendent, will dedicate their new hall, No. 8 Third street, east of Cedar avenue, Allegheny, at three o'clock P. M. to-morrow. Revs. Drs. S. F. Scovel and E. E. Swift will deliver addresses, and the exercises will be varied by the singing from the children and the Sunday school choir.

REV. JACOB FOWLER, of Illinois, preached last Sabbath afternoon at Castle Shannon grove to a large audience, after which Rev. Wallace closed the very interesting services with a very appropriate address. At 7:30 o'clock Rev. F., who is now in his seventieth year, again discoursed on the subject, "Immediate Consecration." Several of the speakers' converts of twenty-two years ago were present, and the occasion was one of great interest.

"W. H. J." SAYS It is sometimes asked at S. S. Conventions, How can we increase the number of attendants in our Sunday Schools?" We know one way, viz: Keep up abundant supply of pictured papers, picnics, prizes and palaver—never press the subjects of personal piety upon the scholar, nor require close attention to the lesson; and lastly, never ask the school for money to pay expenses. If this method fails to fill up your school, we fail to understand human nature."

THE Interior, of Chicago, the best and most ably edited of our Presbyterian exchanges, speaks of a minister's settlement at St. Louis, Mo., as follows: "Rev. John A. Wilson, late pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Beaver, Pa., has accepted the call extended him some time ago inviting him to the pastorate of the First United Presbyterian church, this city. He is now here and has pitched his tent at 811 North Twentieth street. He will have a field here which will tax his best abilities. We extend him our hand, and bid him God-speed."

THE ladies connected with the North Avenue M. E. Church, Allegheny, on Wednesday sent a small package to the Parsonage, which, upon inspection by the recipient, proved to be an exquisitely beautiful and valuable gold watch, suitably inscribed—a slight token of esteem from the ladies to Mrs. Rev. E. B. Snyder, their pastor's estimable and universally esteemed consort. The whole affair was arranged so quietly that the recipient had not the slightest suspicion of such a surprise, but the absence of the generally embarrassing formalities of a public presentation, doubtless made the surprise all the more pleasant. As an evidence of the feeling existing on both sides, the gift is a souvenir invaluable.

SPECIAL Centennial religious service will take place at the quarterly meeting Methodist Episcopal Local Preachers' Association of Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and vicinity, at Butler street M. E. church of this city to-morrow. A prayer and praise service will be held at 9 A. M., in charge of Rev. W. H. Evans. At 10½ o'clock Rev. W. Allcott will deliver a sermon suitable for the occasion. In the afternoon, after the ordinance of baptism is administered by the pastor, Rev. S. P. Woolf, the quarterly lovefast will be held under the direction of the President, Rev. Wm. Stewart, at the close of which, a class of probationers will be received into full membership. At the night service, addresses of a Centennial character will be made by Revs. J. F. Dravo, J. Gatchell and J. Vannote. This evening a business meeting will be held at the usual place.

ON our last page may be seen the table of congregations contributing to the several funds of the church. Every one who examines it will be surprised at the number of congregations which do not contribute to the funds of the church. Of the 774 congregations in America, 83 report themselves as giving nothing to any board or fund, and 83 make no report. The great majority of the non-reporting are also non-contributing. It is safe to say that at least one-sixth of our congregations do not contribute for the general work of the church! Some of these congregations are small and weak, but some of them number 200 members and upward. The Presbyteries in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, the growth of almost an hundred years, do not appear to much better advantage than many others. Of the Synod of Pittsburgh only 37 give to all the funds, 18 do not give to any, and 8 do not report. The work of the church has been suffering. On every hand there has been embarrassment. The reason, in part at least, now appears: the work is ignored by some.—United Presbyterian.

As Good as a Wife.

It is well enough that a man should have a wife to keep watch over his doings, but at the same time he should provide himself with a good timepiece, in order that he may always know when to come and when to go, and this indispensable article can be obtained for almost nothing from John Mitsch, jeweller, 92 Ohio street, on monthly and weekly payments of from $1 to $5. A full line of all classes of jewelry goods at the very lowest figures.

The case was heard before Alderman McMasters; and it was alleged that the prisoner committed perjury in taking the oath of office in violation of that part of the form of the oath with respect to the use of money by candidates at elections. The prisoner waived a hearing and gave bail.

····The acme of perfection in journalism is not reached by sticking to a false statement when once made, whatever the truth may be. For instance, if an utterly erroneous statement of an alleged swindling transaction is published by an erratic morning paper, and chronicled by an evening neighbor (from its morning cotemporary) it is not incumbent upon them to repeat their error the day after in order to establish a name for accuracy and vigilance.

····A stranger who lately arrived in the city from a less torrid clime was advised to avert the danger of the heat by ascending some of the surrounding hills where he could enjoy a more refreshing breeze than in the valley. Accordingly he climbed Mt. Washington with coat under arm and umbrella over head; and sat down on the shady side of the hill's brow where, overcome by fatigue and heat, he puffed and wiped until he went "out of blast." He lived after it.

They will provide for the use of their command at least one axe, one spade, one pick, washbasins, and everything else they may see proper. The State will furnish camp-kettles and mess pans. The company commanders before starting will see that their men are supplied with one day's cooked rations, which, with tin-cups, plates, spoons, knives, forks and company property should be packed in boxes. Rations and fuel will be supplied by the regiment commissary. The officers of the regiment will furnish their own cooking-utensils and rations. The field and commissioned staff are expected to provide themselves with horses while in camp. All officers are expected to camp with the regiment.

PERSONAL.

Judge McCandless will retire, and Judge Ketchum assume the duties of his office on Monday.

John Frew, Esq., one of the proprietors of the Wheeling Intelligencer, was married in Steubenville on Thursday. Mrs. Mary B. Glass is, or rather was, the name of the lady.

C. S. Fetterman, Esq., Chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee, will not take vacation this summer. His leisure time will be spent in arranging for the fall campaign.

Of Dr. I. C. Pershing, President of the Pittsburgh Female College, the Wheeling Register tells this: "When stopping at a flourishing Ohio town, not far from Wheeling, one day last summer, a gentleman named Smith was introduced to Dr. Pershing. Mr. Smith said: 'Pershing! Pershing! That name has a familiar sound to me. I have heard it somewhere before.' 'Very likely,' said the Doctor. 'And your name—let me see—I think I have heard the name of Smith also, or something that sounded much like it,' returned the Doctor, without a smile."

COURT BREVITIES.

MR. WILLIAM SWISSHELM, chief clerk of the Prothonotary's office, has been absent for several days, in consequence of the death of his brother's wife, which occurred at Chicago Tuesday.

THE will of the late Benjamin Singerly was filed in the Register's office yesterday. It is dated February 25, 1875. It disposes of his property in the manner stated by the GAZETTE some days since.

THE United States Courts at Erie will most probably close on Tuesday, and the Court officer will arrive here Tuesday evening. Judge Ketchum will take the oath of office on Monday, when, after the transaction of some routine business, the Court will adjourn.

MRS. AGNES KELLEY, the insane woman from Stowe township, confined in the county "sweat box," was examined by Dr. McKelvey, Jail Physician, yesterday, who certifies to her insanity. An application will be made this morning for her removal to the insane department of the County Home.

SUIT was entered in Common Pleas No. 2 yesterday, by Eliza J. Blonde, against George W. Boyd, to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 for the death of her husband, which occurred at or near Mansfield, several months since, by being run over by a train of cars while intoxicated. She alleges that his death was occasioned by Boyd, who sold him the whisky.

AN application for a writ of habeas corpus will be made this morning by T. H. Davis, Esq., on Henry Cordier, in behalf of Mary White, who was committed to the workhouse by Mayor McCarthy on a charge of vagrancy. Mary was tried in the Quarter Session Court at the last term for keeping a bawdy house, but was acquitted, and a few days afterward she was arrested by the Mayor's police and sent up for vagrancy. A writ of certiorari will also be applied for.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

Condensed News from the Police Courts.

THREE men were sent to Claremont for thirty days by the Mayor yesterday. They were George Henderson, Albert Hoffman and Frank O'Neill.

THE case against Sarah Davis, alias Gregory, who was charged by John Pedro with larceny of $70, was completed yesterday before Alderman O'Donnell. The prisoner was committed to jail.

MILTON KEARNS, a clerk in the employment of Mr. James Gillespie, was arrested on a charge of larceny of money from his employer. The case was heard before Alderman McMasters, and the prisoner was committed to jail.

WILLIAM AND CATHARINE SMITH were found upon Monument Hill, Allegheny, yesterday, by the police. They were arrested and taken before Mayor Phillips, who fined each of them $25 and costs. The woman cashed up, but the man failed to come to time.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The Alleghenys and New Havens play at Union Park to-day.

The Hartfords and Neshannocks played at New Castle, Thursday. Score, Hartfords 5, Neshannocks 3.

We are requested to contradict the statement that the Neshannocks have disbanded. The report was false in every particular and without foundation.

The Neshannocks claim that the Alleghenies defrauded them out of $29, and say that as soon as that money is refunded they will be open for an engagement. How is this?

ELECTRIC SHOCKS.

Vulcan's Thunderbolts Freaking Among the Houses—Wild Impetuosity of the Fiery Element.

Additional damages occasioned by the late thunderstorm have been chronicled. The residence of Mr. J. Blood, corner of Twenty-second street and Wright's alley, was penetrated by a thunderbolt and severely shattered. The bolt descended the chimney and demolished the mantel-piece with its ornamental contents. The clock, window glass and pictures were also damaged; several bricks were jarred asunder and many a hiatus left in the ceilings. The family were in the house at the time, and the Rev. Mr. Colter was their guest; but they all escaped injury. An aged man residing in the adjacent house received a shock, but no serious effect is reported. Mr. Blood's residence is a large two-story brick, and it will cost considerable to restore it to its former state.

A barn belonging to Mr. Thomas Jones, about half a mile from Woodville on the Washington road, ignited and was burnt to the ground. The flames made such rapid headway that it was impossible to subdue them. The barn was crammed full with the new crops, which were also consumed; but the extent of the loss has not been ascertained. No report as to insurance.

The residence of Mrs. Thompson, above Pius street, Twenty-seventh ward, suffered from the lightning, but the damage was mainly confined to the roof.

The shed in connection with Sankey & Brothers brick yard received a tottering shock, but the damage sustained was reported to have been slight.

THE HEATED TERM.

Its Effect on Pianos.

It is, of course, known to every one that the effect of heat on iron or steel is to expand, and of cold to contract it—and iron is a very important factor in the construction of the piano. Its very back-bone is the iron frame, and its vocal chords are cords of steel. The heat, of course, affects these portions, but in such admirably-constructed pianos as the Chickering, its effect is scarcely perceptible—so perfectly have the Chickerings made science subservient to the art of piano making.

But the heat has one quality very comforting to those who desire to buy a piano, viz., it expands or extends the value of a dollar, even a greenback, and it has the opposite effect in regard to prices, that is it contracts them—or in other words, a piano (or an organ either) can be bought now, during this summer season, from us at considerably lower figures than a short time ago. We have just made new arrangements with the various factories we represent, and we are happy to announce to the public that we have really got great concessions from them in the way of prices, and these concessions we are willing to make over for the benefit of the public. We have reduced the prices of our pianos and organs just as much, and in some more than the factory prices have been reduced to us. This then is an opportune time for persons to buy a piano or organ. We can furnish now better instruments for less money than were ever offered in this city before, and our list of instruments represents the highest names and best reputed brands in the trade, viz: The unapproachable Chickering pianos and Mason & Hamlin organs—the very paragons of perfection in these instruments—whose celebrity is world-wide and whose name on a piano or an organ is the best guarantee that it is perfect. We also represent the Kraunich & Bach and Hardman pianos, Taylor & Farley Organs, and Schoninger & Co. Organs. We can give the public the greatest selection of brands and styles, and our prices cannot be beaten by any one else in the trade.

Of course we would like to see cash customers, but if credit is more convenient we can accommodate all. Our easy monthly-payment plan is just the thing for persons of moderate means.

Comfortable and Convenient Cresson.

Mushroom summer resorts have their rise and fall, while Cresson remains the popular, fashionable and favorite resort, increasing its attractions and its patrons with each year. In the coolness and salubrity of its atmosphere, Cresson is second to none, not even to the White Mountains. In beauty of natural scenery, it will well compare with any other. In the tonic and medicinal quality of its springs, it rivals the celebrated resorts of the old world. And in convenience of access to the denizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, it has no rival, as a special train will leave the Union Depot this evening, at the close of business hours, to convey parties to the Mountain House at the Springs, and return with them on Monday morning in time for early business. Go to Cresson and stop at the Mountain House.

The Eye.

It is a fact established by the most prominent oculists that spectacles, when properly suited to the eyes, are not only of great advantage, but in many cases also protect and preserve the eye sight. Several years theoretical and practical studies in one of the best academies of Europe enables Kornblum, the optician, to select glasses for all kinds of affected eyes, where the vision has not been entirely destroyed. He has a fine assortment of spectacles and eyeglasses constantly on hand. Office of Kornblum, the optician, is corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street, in R. S. Davis & Co.'s book store.

Eagle Shoe Store,
85 Smithfield street, cheapest in the world.

Good Boarding.

For a good square meal, well cooked and cleanly served, commend us to the dining-rooms of Mrs. Bair, 108 Fourth avenue. No magnifying glass required to see the contents of the table, as abundance of necessity, luxury and dainty is the especial feature of this elegant dining hall.

James Reno, 19 Federal street, Allegheny, sells Rosendale and Louisville cement, remarkably cheap.

THE MARKET.

What We Eat—Where It Comes From, and What It Costs.

There is no subject of so much importance to the readers as that of the cost of living, and the most important branch of the subject is that which relates to the supply, quality and prices of provisions. It is a subject, however, of too vast proportions, covering too wide a field to be considered in detail by a local reporter, but there is one branch of it which is of more general interest than any other, coming under the head of "Marketing," of which a short article might be written, which may be read with profit by housekeepers. For the various other branches of the subject the reader is referred to the market reports of the GAZETTE, which are admitted by all to be the most full, complete and reliable published in any paper in the city.

THE MARKET.

There are few cities in the country of the size and importance of Pittsburgh with so poor market facilities; few with better markets and fewer still, in which meat, vegetables, fruit, &c., command so high a price, as they do here, in other words there is no city in the United States where the people are so fearfully imposed upon in the matter of marketing as they are in Pittsburgh, where extortion is the rule and not the exception. The Diamond market houses are totally unfit for the purposes, and as a consequence, the place always has an unpleasant appearance, and disagreeable smell of decayed animal and vegetable matter, with which every article offered for sale is affected to a greater or less degree, according to the time it is permitted to remain in contact with the vitiated atmosphere which prevades the locality. More room and a greater area for the circulation of air around the buildings is the only remedy. Notwithstanding this condition of affairs, which no one who has visited the market on market days will attempt to deny, the place is extensively patronized, not so much from necessity, however, as habit, as there is scarcely an article offered for sale in the market that any housekeeper can not procure nearer home, of as good quality and at a less price than at the market. The Pittsburgh meat market is unquestionably good, but the same source that supplies the market supplies the meat shops throughout the city, and the green grocers draw upon the same sources for their supplies of fruit and vegetables, as do the hucksters who deal them out at extortionate rates at the market house.

A LIST OF PRICES.

The butchers, notwithstanding the general downward tendency of everything else, manage to hold beef up to inflation prices, and according to their own statements are getting poor selling beef at 12 to 20 cents per pound, when cattle costs from four to five, while hundreds got rich selling at the same price when they had to pay nearly double for cattle what they now pay.

New potatoes by the bushel bring one dollar, which is not unreasonable, but when the poor man who cannot afford to purchase more than a peck or half peck, lays in his stock he is charged at the rate of two dollars per bushel, fifty cents per peck. Tomatoes, although very plenty in market, are still held at high figures, when sold in small quantities, and were sold yesterday at forty cents per peck. Other vegetables are sold for just what they will bring, consequently cannot be quoted. In the fruit line there are a good supply of apples, blackberries, whortleberries and a few peaches, and pears. Apples were selling yesterday in small quantities at the rate of $1.50 to $2.00 per bushel, according to quality. The supply of pears and peaches were so meagre that they were commanding high figures, notwithstanding they were very inferior in quality. Blackberries and whortleberries sold at the rate of 50c per gallon, or fifteen cents per single quart. The season for both these fruits is at least one week earlier this year than formerly, and it will probably end much earlier than usual, if the extreme hot weather continues. What we are now getting here is from the east generally, the crop in this locality not having ripened yet in sufficient quantity to market. The peach season proper will not commence before the first of next month, although a few of the more early varities are already in market.

The supply of water mellons is greater than was ever known in this market so early in the season, but the demand has not been so great as at other times, and the dealers all look blue.

Liver Complaint.

By R. V. PIERCE, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which becomes overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhoea, is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish-brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache, dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, and internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, sore throat, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides; back, or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels, constipation, alternating with diarrhoea; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night), and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

TREATMENT.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

SHAKSPEARE'S HORSE LOVE.

What a Sewickley Parson has to say About it—He Makes a Discovery.

Rev. Dr. Bittinger, of Sewickley, on Thursday read an essay before the American Philological Association, now meeting in New York, and seems to have made a "hit" and discovery. The title of the paper was, "What Shakspeare Knew of Horsemanship."

The paper was a criticism upon the commentators of Shakespeare in their treatment of the passage in "Macbeth," act 1, scene 7, "I have no spur to prick the sides of my intent, but only vaulting ambition, o'erleaps itself, and falls on the other ——." The discussion was on the word "other," and the writer divides Shakespeare's commentators upon this passage into two classes, those who seek to mend the author's text and those who try to explain his rhetoric and meaning. Of the first some suggest "side," others "earth," and a variety of other terms which are possible, while the explanations of the latter class are numerous and ingenious. The writer places himself in the first class by arguing that "intent" is the steed and "ambition" the rider, and the rider having no spur to prick his halting horse while he himself is urged on by ambition, rising in his strirups and leaning forward—vaulting ambition—he overleaps himself.

The goal of Macbeth's intent was the assassination, that of his ambition the throne —he must be a murderer before he can be a monarch. If the intent to murder halted, the desire to mount the throne would be fruitless. Macbeth feels this and does not repine his lack of ambition, but sorrows over his purpose—over his courage that needs screwing up. Thus, like an eager rider of a sluggish steed, he o'erleaps himself and falls on the "withers." This reading of withers for "other" the writer claimed is the original text of Shakespeare, and he closed by showing how it satisfied all the demands of the passage.

Summer Suits—Cheap.

Summer Clothing of all descriptions for men, youths and boys can be had at the very lowest figures at Eisner & Phillips', corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue. They carry an immense stock, and offer great attractions in the great variety of styles from which selections are made. They also manufacture to measure suits almost as cheap as their ready made clothing, which is a marvel of cheapness. Large assortment of furnishing goods on hand at low prices. Linen and other light suits very much reduced in price.

Special.

Why pay from $3.00 to $10.00 for Gold Fillings when Dr. Goshorn will fill you the same teeth at from $1.00 to $5.00? His fillings can't be beat. CURRAN—July 20, 1876, MARY AGNES, infant daughter of James and Kate M. C. Curran, aged 3 months.

The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the residence of her grandfather, James Nelson, No. 116 Washington street, Allegheny, THIS MORNING, at 10 o'clock.

The "Lost Art" Recovered.

Galen, the most celebrated physician, flourished in the second century. His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy. His cures were so marvellous that he was accused of magic. His mighty skill and success silenced his enemies, and his opinions held sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of VEGETINE, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood purifier and health-restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

SCROFULOUS HUMOR

Bursting Through the Skin on All Parts of the Body.

A Hopeless Sufferer Cured by Vegetine.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir—Thinking that a statement of my case may meet the eye of some one suffering from Scrofula, I beg you to publish the following, which I cheerfully furnish of my own free will.

I have been afflicted with Scrofulous Humor from my birth and at times very badly. When about six years old the disease made its appearance on my head, and it was deemed advisable to have the hair shaved, but they were obliged to cut it off with embroidery scissors, as my head was so sore I could not have it shaved. After we had succeeded in healing the sores on the outside they broke, but on the inside, causing me great pain. There have been times when the surface of my hands was all raw from the effect of this humor, and no pen can describe the great suffering I have endured.

About three years ago small kernels made their appearance on the cords of my neck, several of which grew into quite large tumors, and nothing which we could use would remove them. My whole system was so full of scrofulous humor that it seemed ready to burst through the skin at all parts of my body, and I was in a terrible weak and feeble condition. The tumors on my neck had grown to such a size as to disfigure me badly. When in this hopeless condition I was advised by a friend to try the VEGETINE, and I at once commenced taking it, and after I had used it a short time the tumors commenced discharging, and I do not think I overestimate the quantity from each tumor when I say that a good-sized teacupful of corruption ran out, after which they commenced to heal up and disappear, and now my neck is as smooth and free from bunches as any lady's.

I believe the VEGETINE has entirely cleansed every taint of scrofula from my system, and I desire to have this statement published, so that other sufferers may find relief, as they surely will do, if they try the VEGETINE.

It will afford me pleasure to give any further information relative to my case to all who will call or address me.
ALICE SHIRLEY,
Nov. 11, 1874. Noank, Conn.

UNSOLICITED EVIDENCE.

SPRINGFIELD, ME., May 14, 1872.
MR. H. R. STEVENS: Dear Sir—My daughter has been out of health for about two years. About a year ago she had a tumor come on her side, which was very painful.

I saw VEGETINE advertised in the Farmer, and sent to Bangor and got two bottles. She is now taking the second bottle; her health is much improved, and the tumor is going away as fast as it came. Every one in this vicinity knows what VEGETINE has done for my daughter, and I take every opportunity to recommend it to those who are not aware of its great value. Very respectfully,
MRS. SUSAN C. RANDALL.

Every One Speaks Favorably.

EAST MARSHFIELD, MASS., Aug. 21, 1870.
MR. STEVENS: Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. Have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I tried your VEGETINE. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanies Canker humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effect.
Yours truly, P. S. SHERMAN.

VEGETINE extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing with its foundation, correcting diseased action and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease and leaving Nature to perform its allotted task.

LATEST RIVER NEWS.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

OIL CITY, July 21, 1876.
River 1 foot 3 inches, and falling. Weather clear and cool.

BROWNSVILLE, July 21, 1876.
River 6 feet 1 inch, and rising. The weather is fair.

CINCINNATI, July 21, 1876.
River 12 feet 10 inches, and falling. Departed—Glasgow, Evansville. Clear and cool.

SHREVEPORT, July 21, 1876.
The weather is clear; thermometer 97. Many plantations on the west side of Old river are overflowed. Fears are entertained that all on that side will be submerged. A heavy rise here has alarmed planters along the river immediately below here. The upper river at Fulton fell thirteen inches. The impression here is that every plantation between Fulton and the head of the "raft" is under water, though not a word has been heard from any of them since the high water cut them off from the hills.

ST. LOUIS, July 21, 1876.
Arrived—Rob Roy, Keokuk; City of Vicksburg, Vicksburg; Clinton, St. Paul. Departed—Mitchell, St. Paul; Commonwealth, New Orleans; Rob Roy, Keokuk. The river has fallen one foot. The weather is clear and cooler. Capt. James Lowry, of Pittsburgh, died here last night from the effects of the heat. His remains left here for Pittsburgh this evening.

CAIRO, July 21, 1876.
Arrived—Grand Republic, New Orleans, 5 P. M.; Ste. Genevieve, St. Louis, 7; Fearless, St. Louis, 7. Departed—Grand Republic, St. Louis, 5; Fearless, St. Louis, 7; Ste. Genevieve, Vicksburg, 3. River 31 feet 10 inches, and falling. Clear and cooler; mercury 82.

EVANSVILLE, July 21, 1876.
Clear; mercury 78 to 90; wind from the north. River rising, with 9 7-10 feet on gauge. Up—Idlewild 5:30 A. M.; Andy Baum and Maggie Smith, 7. Down—Sandy No. 2, 11:30 A. M.; Tarascon, 1:30 P. M.; Cons. Millar, 3; Dick Johnson, 4. Business light.

MEMPHIS, July 21, 1876.
The river is stationary, with 27 feet 7 inches above low water. Departed—Cherokee, Jas. D. Parker, and W. P. Schenck, Cincinnati; City of Helena, Vicksburg.

LOUISVILLE, July 21, 1876.
Weather warm and clear. Arrived—Shannon, New Orleans. Departed—Shannon, Cincinnati. River falling, with 7 feet 8 inches in the canal.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21, 1876.
Arrived—Robert Mitchell, Ohio River; Grand Lake and E. O. Standard, St. Louis. No departures. Weather clear and hot.

VICKSBURG, July 21, 1876.
The river is stationary. Weather warm and clear. Up—White and Arlington. Down—Kate. In port—Grand Tower.

NASHVILLE, July 21, 1876.
The river is rising, with two feet six inches on the shoals. Arrived and departed—Eddyville, Evansville.

LITTLE ROCK, July 21, 1876.
Weather sultry; heavy rain. River falling; 10 feet 10 inches in the channel.
